Federal Cotton Conference Called Here

MEYER TO DISCUSS LOCAL CONDITIONS WITH BANK HEADS

Chief of President's Committee To Confer With Georgians at Chamber of Commerce.

SIMILAR SESSIONS HELD OVER SOUTH

Georgia Bankers Named by Winn To Convene Immediately After Conference With Meyer.

Coordination of Georgia efforts with those of other states toward solving the present cotton crisis will be discussed at 10 o'clock Saturday morning by Eugene Meyer, Jr., chairman of President Coolidge's special cotton commission, with prominent bankers and business men of this state in the assembly hall of the chamber of commerce.

News of Mr. Meyer's visit to Atlanta was received Wednesday, when it became known that he will hold a similar meeting today in Raleigh, N. C., and another Friday in Columbia, S. C. The chamber of commerce, the Atlanta Association of Credit Men and the Georgia Bankers' association immediately laid plans to secure a representative attendance of Georgia's financial leaders and others directly interested in the cotton situation.

Following conferences held in Washington early in the week between the president's commission and representatives of cotton-growers, Mr. Meyer began a tour of the entire south to investigate conditions at first hand and to meet in the states affected with bankers and business men for discussions of the situation. It is understood that at Saturday's conference Mr. Meyer will outline the government's plan of operation.

Bankers' Committee Names. Simultaneously with announcement of Mr. Meyer's visit to Atlanta, Abial Winn, of Valdosta, president of the Georgia Bankers' association, appointed a special cotton committee of the association in accordance with resolutions adopted at the recent Memphis, Tenn., cotton conference. Mr. Winn called a meeting of the committee to immediately follow Mr. Meyer's conference Saturday morning.

The personnel of the bankers association committee follows: John M. Graham, Rome; Charles H. Phinizy, Augusta; J. B. Key, Columbus; Charles B. Lewis, Macon; Walter N. Harrison, Lawton; W. B. Spenn, Atlanta; R. F. Donaldson, Statesboro; Frank Sheffield, Americus; W. J. Vereen, Moultrie; J. S. Floyd, Atlanta; and Gordon L. Gower, Savannah. Officers of the bankers' association.

MARIE AND PARTY WILL VISIT FLORIDA

Tallahassee, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—Queen Marie of Rumania and her party will visit Florida some time in December, Governor Martin was advised in a telegram today from Mrs. Thomas P. Denham, of Jacksonville, one of the state's representatives in the reception tendered the queen upon her arrival in this country.

The exact date of the visit will be announced later, Mrs. Denham said. A bouquet of flowers, bearing a message of welcome from Florida, covered the queen's table at a luncheon served at Mount Vernon, she added.

Baltimore, October 20.—(AP)—Despite bleak skies Queen Marie received from Baltimore today the most tumultuous welcome accorded her since she landed in America Monday.

Rain, which started to fall before the royal party left Washington by automobile this morning, signally failed either to mar the queen's enjoyment of the trip, or to dampen the enthusiasm of hundreds of thousands of well-wishers who gathered in the mud of the country roadside and the

My Journey To America

By Her Majesty
QUEEN MARIE OF RUMANIA
Busy Days in Paris

(Copyright, 1926, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

The days in Paris are really a rush. Other women take weeks to choose and try on their clothes. I have to do everything in five days which means hard work.

Of course, I want to honor America by looking as well as I can, in fitting attire, fitting for every occasion. That is one of the secrets of dress, to wear the right thing at the right time.

But of course clothes cannot and must not play the chief part in my life. I owe myself to so many in so many ways. Besides I only have a holiday abroad once a year and all the friends, acquaintances, petitioners, artists, musicians, politicians want to be seen—listened to, want to invite me, interest me in this and that.

The other day my morning was quite a comic cinema or a bad dream. I wanted to get out to buy a birthday present for my daughter who has remained with her father, but each time I thought to reach the door, something happened to prevent me. For two hours I was frustrated by one thing or another and the opening of that door had become like an unreachable goal.

MEETING CALLED A "JOY."

If I am already rushed in Paris, what will it be when I arrive in America, where I have never been, where all is new and tremendous and where so many are awaiting me?

My Spanish sister who was to have come with me, but who, alas, had to give it up, has arrived. Each meeting is a joy. We are deeply attached to each other. It would have doubled my joy if I had been able to take her with me.

She is so clever, witty, such a good companion. She knows so well how to entertain and interest people. She does not have such robust health as I, but her spirit is just as keen. But how can one ask, tell, relate all in such a short few days.

All sorts of Americans have come to shake hands with me, just because I am leaving for their country and they want to wish me: God-speed.

I am struck again and again by the warm-heartedness of the Americans. There is something so genuine and sincere in their pleasure in seeing one.

Each evening we go to a play. What an astonishing way the French have of saying things wittily. Really, no other language could adapt itself to certain jokes but French, in any other language it would sound impossible.

But it becomes a bit confusing when one is with the French for a longer time—one has to be careful of one's jokes, which might sound daring in other countries.

PARIS WILL REMAIN GAY.

Perhaps it's the Paris atmosphere. Paris will always remain the gay town—the town where people come to have a good time—not to work.

I finally did find time to run to the shops to get my daughter a birthday present. She has a crazy for old Chinese cloisonne and I found a lovely old bowl, large and flat with beautiful colors—I think she will like that.

I have seen my Russian sister also, the Grand Duchess Cyril, who went to see you last year.

She is nearest to me in age and nearest in heart, I think. Beatrice is many years younger than I am, there is only one year between the grand duchess and I; I am the eldest.

We talked endlessly about America. She so loved it, she said, that seldom has she felt so much at home anywhere, but that I would find in America the rooms are heated much more than we are accustomed to in Europe.

She has a difficult life and bears it so bravely. But it tells upon her health. She never looks after herself; she is a "weight-bearer" as I call those who toil for others all day.

A wonderful old American lady came to see me two days ago. I did not know her at all. She came because it was her desire to meet me, "her great desire," she said. I had only a few minutes just before supper—but the day after she sent me 12,000 francs for my poor.

I blessed her a thousand times and sent her my r'ture. What good I shall be able to do with her precious gift. And she was quite a stranger to me—was it not wonderful that she should wish to help me to do good?

We went, all three sisters together, to look at some lovely water colors in an exhibition. All three of us have a talent for painting.

I have given it up, but my other sisters still paint very well, so we could look at the pictures with the eyes of connoisseurs, of co-workers who could appreciate the achievements of others.

ARTIST PRESENTS BEAUTIFUL PICTURE.

mountains. I am quite overcome with everybody's kindness to me.

I kept this day for my family—I wanted also, but I'll speak of that later if I can.

We supped together and talked endlessly, there was so much to relate and each of the three sisters have very full but very different lives, as fate has put us into different countries.

There is a fourth sister in Germany whom I have not seen for 13 years. October 11, my last day in Paris, was of course overflowing with the terrible haste of last days before a departure. There was all the packing, and last dresses to try on, and last people to see.

All sorts of fantastic things have been related about the number of dresses I have ordered for my American trip. People like to talk in hundreds. It sounds exciting, but I am a reasonable queen. I know the value of money and how absurd it would be to have more dresses than you could wear.

I hope to honor my hosts by being well-dressed, but I never considered that a queen has a right to use all her money in decking herself out when there is so many that could keep alive for months on the price of one of those delicious Paris rag.

A poor Russian lady came to me whom I had known in prosperous circumstances. She was now facing life with a hundred francs in her pockets, a sick husband and without work to pay debts incurred by long hospital bills. It made me almost hate my fine clothes.

Of course I did not leave her in

EUGENE V. DEBS, SOCIALIST HEAD, DIES IN CHICAGO

Leader of Party and Five Times Candidate for Presidency Served in Atlanta Prison.

FUNERAL PLANNED FOR TERRE HAUTE

Noted Leader Never Lost Faith in Principles To Which He Had Devoted His Life.

BY H. G. HOUSER.

(United News Staff Correspondent) Elmhurst, Ill., October 20.—Eugene Victor Debs, picturesque leader of American socialists for 32 years, died in a sanitarium here at 7:34 o'clock tonight.

Debs had been suffering intensely from nephritis for the last four weeks. Early yesterday he became unconscious and physicians announced that there was no hope for his recovery.

With Debs at the death-bed were his wife, Katherine, his brother, Theodore, his two sisters, Mrs. Fred Heintz of Terre Haute, Ind., and Mrs. C. O. Mailloux of New York, and Dr. H. O. Wiseman his physician. At 7:35 p. m., Dr. Wiseman left his patient's bedside and announced that he had passed away while in a coma.

Heart Weakened. "Mr. Debs' heart was weakened by the long illness, which he was too old to throw off," Dr. Wiseman said.

Those who had been close to Debs in recent months knew that the aged campaigner was reconciled to the fate which chronic nephritis had imposed upon him.

Debs was nearly 71 years old. He had lost much of his former vigor, but he was completely broken physically, but his ideals remained as real to him as ever.

"I will go to my grave convinced that socialism and socialism alone offers the only remedy for the political and economic troubles of mankind," Debs said in one of his last public addresses. And Dr. Wiseman, who was one of the last persons to talk to Debs, said the old socialist's attitude was precisely that to the very end.

Talks About Mission.

"He talked to me about his mission in life for the last time several days ago," the physician said. "He knew then that he would live only a short while and he seemed happy that he had devoted his energies to socialism."

Ever since Debs' condition became critical the sanitarium telephone was kept busy by countless friends calling to inquire of his condition and to express hope for his recovery. To these and thousands of others who knew him simply as "Gene Debs," the news of his death meant the loss of a way to the prison, closely shepherd by newspapermen who were not at all certain whether they would be admitted or barred when the prison was reached.

Several Thousand Persons Homeless In Cuban Capital

Many Ships Are Damaged by Great Storm, and Monument Erected To Sailors Who Lost Lives on Battleship Maine Is Destroyed.

SOLDIERS ARE ON GUARD TO PREVENT ANY LOOTING

Cities of Florida Prepared for Coming of Hurricane---Key West Escapes Loss of Life---One Man Killed by Falling Awning in Miami.

Thirty persons met death and more than 300 were injured in Havana, Cuba, by the West Indian hurricane, but Miami and other Florida cities practically escaped damage, according to dispatches received by the Associated Press Wednesday night and early this morning.

Wind was blowing from the west in Miami, indicating that the storm was passing seaward, and police advised people on the streets to return to their homes as all danger had passed.

Information was received by a telegraph operator of the Florida East Coast railroad at West Palm Beach that the tropical hurricane had passed over Miami at 3 o'clock in the morning, doing little damage to the city. The message said that the wind blew between 80 and 90 miles an hour for several hours. No loss of life was reported at the railroad station, but from other sources the Associated Press learned that one man had been killed by a falling awning.

All indications early this morning were that the storm had passed to the southeast from Miami, where the barometer had risen to 29.44 at 2 o'clock.

The wind was blowing in Key West at the rate of 90 miles an hour, passing that city traveling in a northeasterly direction. There was no loss of life.

The brunt of the storm was borne by Havana, where several thousand people are reported to be homeless as the result of damage or destruction of residences. Many ships were damaged and the monument erected to the sailors who met death when the Maine was blown up was practically destroyed.

Many Americans were in the storm zone in Havana and some of

Postal Marines TO USE ATLANTA AS ONE OF BASES

President Coolidge Approves Expenses Necessary To Arm 2,500 Marines and Guard Mails.

Washington, October 20.—(AP)—President Coolidge today approved expenses necessary to arm the postal service and rules were issued tonight by Major General Lefebvre, commandant of the marine corps, making 2,500 marines available tomorrow for guarding the mails.

The postoffice department program which received the endorsement of the president also provides for the use of 2,000 riot guns and the immediate construction of more than 200 armored rail cars and motor trucks.

Director Lord of the budget is understood to have advised the president that funds for carrying out this plan are available.

Detachments of marines from the base at Quantico, Va., will be assigned to points in the eastern zone while others will be supplied from the San Diego, Calif., base. The men will be equipped with rifles, automatic pistols and shot guns. Brigadier General Logan Feland is in command of the force of the east with headquarters

Shop Early in the Day

Right after the shops and stores open is the best time to make purchases. Sales forces are rested from the previous day's work and are keenly alert to serve the first shoppers. There is no crowd surging at your elbows, nor an eager person ready to beat you to an attractive bargain while you are deliberating.

The Constitution is delivered at your home early in the morning, and at the first minute you have, concentrate your attention on the bargain offerings for the day. When you find something offered in which you are interested make it an object to get to the store early.

The complete satisfaction that attends early shopping justifies the little extra effort made to gain it, and Constitution advertisements pave the way.

ADVERTISING IN THE CONSTITUTION PAYS THE ADVERTISER AND SAVES THE BUYER

School Teachers Receive Pay for September Work Through Loan of $500,000

1,200 Teachers Get Warrants Which Will Be Paid at All Atlanta Banks.

Approximately 1,200 teachers of Atlanta public schools will crowd banks of the city today, causing warrants for September salaries which have been due since October 1, but which on account of a financial crisis in the school system were delayed until a loan of $500,000 had been obtained.

This was assured Wednesday night when certificates of service were placed in the mails, following completion of the final details in connection with the negotiation of the $500,000 loan necessary to meet payrolls of employees of the department for the remainder of the year.

R. R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, kept his office hours busy all Tuesday mailing the certificates which Atlanta banks have agreed to cash. September salaries amount to more than $207,000.

At the same time, announcement was made of the selection of four members of the committee of five who will superintend expenditures of the board of education for the remainder of this year and next, were named.

Committee Selected.
They are H. Warner Martin, of the Atlanta & Lowry National bank; W. T. Perkinson, of the Fourth National bank; W. W. Orr, president of George Mose Clothing company, and Harold Hirsch, Atlanta attorney.

The other member of the committee will be selected later.

Members of the Atlanta board of education Tuesday afternoon voted to accept any committee which was named and these men thus become financial directors of school funds for the next 15 months.

Warrants which also carry with them a certificate of service name the Atlanta Trust company as trustee, but officials of the school department declared that all banks in the city will honor them, thus obviating the necessity of teachers being forced to go to the Atlanta Trust company if other banks are more convenient for them.

These warrants will be handled just as if they were checks, it was explained.

Indignors Praised.
Public-spirited Atlantans who came to the rescue of the school department and prevented closing of the 60 institutions of the system were praised for their work.

Jack Spalding was lauded for his efforts in assisting to solve the financial difficulties. He drew warrants and certificates of service which were finally accepted and personally indorsed the note which scores of other citizens indorsed as security for the loan of $500,000.

Others who were praised included C. J. Bloodworth, vice president of Chamberlain-Johnson-DuBose company; W. D. Hoffman, chairman of the current expenditures committee of the board of education; B. Graham West, city comptroller; Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools; Mr. Ritchie and Frank Neely, general manager of M. Rich & Bros. company.

Although the note has sufficient signatures to permit the loan by the banks, it was announced that it still is open for other indorsements and that persons wishing to sign it will be given the opportunity to do so.

How Warrant Reads.
A reproduction of the warrant issued to teachers in lieu of checks, but which banks this morning will cash as if they were checks, follows:

"Georgia, Fulton county:
"It is hereby certified that has served the city of Atlanta through its board of education for the school month of September, 1926, for which there is due the sum of $—."

For the Board of Education.
"Georgia, Fulton county:
"The Trust Company of Georgia, as trustee, in behalf of the makers of a note made to it for this purpose has loaned the undersigned $— and the undersigned hereby assigns to Trust Company of Georgia its above claim as security for said loan and does hereby guarantee that the above loan will be repaid on or before February 1, 1927."

"This — day of — 1926."

FEDERAL COTTON CONFERENCE CALLED

tion Mr. Wain, president; Robert Strickland, Atlanta, vice president; and Haynes McFadden, Atlanta, secretary will act as ex-officio members of the committee.

The purpose of the bankers' committee is to secure co-operation in financing cotton with the market by growers as provided in resolutions adopted at the Memphis meeting, and to assist in formation of plans for acreage reduction next year.

The Memphis conference urged that 100,000 bales for surplus of the 1926 crop be taken off the market to be held indefinitely for orderly marketing, and that the various cotton cooperative marketing associations with their surplus be used for retarding this surplus. It was further recommended that the cotton acreage for 1927 be reduced at least 25 per cent.

A campaign program for cooperation of bankers, colleges of agriculture and other agencies for reducing the 1927 acreage was mapped out by the Memphis meeting.

Warm Friend of South.
On his tour of the south, Mr. Meyer is accompanied by Chas. Williams, of the farm loan board and of the intermediate credit banks. Mr. Meyer, as managing director of the war finance corporation, has had wide experience in handling such major problems as the one which confronts the south today, and as he is known to be a warm friend of the south, Atlanta bankers regard the conference Saturday as a decided step toward solving the farmer's difficulty.

Other members of the president's commission are Secretaries Mellon, of the treasury; Jardine of the agricultural department; and Hoover, of the department of commerce. They were present at conferences held in Washington with cotton-growers and others interested in the cotton problem, and will confer with Mr. Meyer on his return to Washington on information gathered during the trip.

John K. Ottley, who served on the war finance corporation with Mr. Meyer, was notified Wednesday that Mr. Meyer of the impending visit to Atlanta, and made announcement of the meeting. All bankers, business men and others interested in the cotton crisis are invited to attend the conference with Mr. Meyer and Mr. Williams.

Red Cross Active.
The Red Cross placed all of its facilities at the disposal of the people. A special train, with steam up, was ready with doctors and nurses to meet any call that might come for help from outside points.

Hundreds of northbound automobiles, bearing persons from the lower Florida east coast, passed through West Palm Beach late today. Both railroad waiting rooms there were crowded with those awaiting north-bound trains.

A steady falling barometer, increasing winds and high waves, caused apprehension at the Palm Beaches. At 10:30 p. m. the barometer registered 29.2.

The exodus of persons from the south was noticed at Fort Pierce, which is further up the east coast. Throughout most of the area devastated by last night's hurricane, frozen preparations were made to combat the elements when the first warning: were received. Windows were battered down, movable objects secured and relief agencies set up to meet any emergency.

Havana Hard Hit.
Available reports tonight showed Havana first hit by the hurricane. The hurricane as it blew out of the Caribbean sea, to be the chief sufferer. There a score of persons were thought to have been killed and severe damage done to shipping and public utilities by a 120-mile an hour gale and torrential rains.

Swirling northeastward from the Cuban capital, the hurricane struck Key West in the late afternoon, the wind reaching a velocity of approximately 90 miles an hour and raging four hours, but doing virtually no damage. It was believed to have swerved in the direction of the Bahama Islands as it proceeded up the coast.

First Loss of Life.
The first loss of life from the storm in Miami came when H. C. Katlow, of San Francisco, was killed when a train fell on him in Flagler street. His body was found by a telephone lineman, Joe Lynch, near Third avenue, northeast. Identification cards were found on the body.

The barometer was 29.32 at 10 o'clock and took a sharp drop a few minutes later to 29.28 and remained there. There was a growing belief that the center of the storm had passed to the east. At this hour the rain fell light but the wind was strong.

30 PERSONS KILLED BY STORM IN HAVANA.
Havana, October 20.—(AP)—Thirty persons were killed and 300 injured in the city of Havana by the hurricane that swept over the city this morning. It was officially announced this evening.

At the lower parts of the city were inundated, causing thousands of persons to need temporary aid and shelter.

American Section Damaged.
In the suburb of Marianao, where many Americans live, great damage was done by the storm. Tonight the town was without light or water.

Near Oriental park, where the race course is situated, numerous houses were wrecked or seriously damaged. Twenty-five per cent of the barracks buildings at Camp Columbia were wrecked. Other sections of the city suffered seriously.

All the trees lining the road from Havana to Marianao were uprooted. Police and soldiers are patrolling the streets of the city tonight to prevent possible attempts at looting.

President Machado tonight ordered all places of business closed and instructed the police and military to guard registered mail trucks in the city and to prevent looting of mail cars coming into and leaving the city. The marines will be under the direction of Joe P. Johnston, inspector in charge, the postoffice inspection department having charge of measures to prevent depredation on the mails.

their homes were damaged, but, so far as could be learned, none was killed or badly hurt.

TROPICAL HURRICANE HAS PASSED MIAMI.
West Palm Beach, Fla., October 21.—(AP)—The tropical hurricane had passed Miami at 3 o'clock this morning, leaving but little damage to the city in its wake according to the telegraph operator of the Florida East coast railroad here. He reported that the wind blew between 80 and 90 miles an hour for several hours but had caused no serious damage to buildings. No loss of life had been reported at the railroad station.

ALL DANGER IS PAST MIAMI PEOPLE TOLD.
Miami, Fla., October 21.—(AP)—Police advised the people 2 o'clock this morning to return home as all danger from the West Indian hurricane had passed. The sky at that hour had cleared and the rain had stopped. The barometer, which shortly after midnight registered 29.20 had risen to 29.25 at 1 a. m. Wind was blowing from the west indicating that the storm was going seaward.

Indications were that the storm passed to the southeast from Miami. The barometer had risen to 29.44 at 2 o'clock and the wind had moderated. Many persons were on the street.

With the memory of the destructive hurricane of September 19 still fresh in their minds, numbers of persons sought to outdistance the storm and crowded trains for the north. Others, unable to obtain immediate passage, filled the station, while north bound automobiles were reported jamming the Dixie highway for cars.

MAIL PLANE LEAVES FOR FLORIDA TODAY.

Despite unfavorable reports from Miami, Fla., regarding the West Indian hurricane now sweeping the lower section of the state, the Florida Airways corporation, through its Atlanta representative, announced Wednesday night that the mail plane will leave Candler field at 6:30 o'clock as per schedule.

Fearful of remaining in their homes, a small group of the more apprehensive sought shelter in a schoolhouse. This followed announcement in the day that the school houses would be used as relief stations if the storm came. The school children were dismissed at noon.

Residents Take Refuge.
The fire station and city hall were places of refuge for others. Firemen in several instances gave their coats to women and children. The court house likewise served as a shelter, its benches being improvised for coats.

The late afternoon, the American Legion, which had been called out among a number of emergency units, distributed bedding and relief supplies where sleeping quarters could be made available for emergency purposes.

The northward sweep of the storm brought a steady increasing wind to Miami, its velocity at 10 o'clock being reported at 60 miles an hour with a barometer reading of 29.34. At this hour the most optimistic reports of the belief that the city was experiencing the more severe portion of the storm, predicting its center would pass to the southeast and inland the coast.

Hundreds sought the latest hurricane information from the newspapers and weather bureau.

Naval Vessels Sunk.
The Cuban naval vessels 24 Febrero and Hatuey were sunk, and the light cruiser Patria damaged. The steam ship Meximo Gomez broke from her mooring and was driven about the harbor coming into collision with many ships; she finally rested up against the dock.

The Spanish steamers Antonio Lopez and Barcelona were damaged. The schooner Maria Mercedes, Maria del Carmen, Enriqueta and Crisidilla were sunk. The Cuban steamers Lela and Puerta Tarifa also went to the bottom, and the French steamer Grand and a steamer of the West Indian company suffered severe damage.

The Governor Cobb and the Orizaba are safe. The British steamer Ulua was unable to enter port but it was safe. Numerous wharves were wrecked, as well as the Beloit and gasoline storage tanks.

REFUGEES FLOCK TOWARDS NORTH.
Fort Pierce, Fla., October 21.—(AP)—The approach of the West Indian hurricane into the vicinity of Florida was heralded locally tonight by a rapidly falling barometer. At 9:45 a. m. the reading was 29.02, but 62 above the lowest record during the storm of September. The reading at that hour was 22 below that recorded at 5 p. m.

An exodus of persons from the south was noticeable here, although the majority were remaining in Fort Pierce which was not seriously struck by the disastrous storms of last month.

At 10:45 the barometer had taken a rise to 29.06, giving indications that the storm was passing into the Atlantic.

At that hour railroad telegraphic reports here were that the barometer reading at Miami was 29.32.

NINETY-MILE GALE HITS KEY WEST.
Key West, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—The tropical storm struck Key West this afternoon, raging four hours with the wind reaching a velocity of 90 miles an hour. Save for a few windows smashed and street signs blown down, no damage was caused. There were no casualties.

The hurricane was believed to have swerved in the direction of the Bahama Islands as it proceeded up the coast.

NO DANGER IS SEEN OF STORM AT TAMPA.
Tampa, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—Walter J. Bennett, government forecaster here, declared tonight that the West Indian hurricane was in the Florida straits, moving northeast. He said there was no danger of a hurricane in Tampa or vicinity.

EMERGENCY WARNINGS ARE POSTED.
Miami, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—Emergency advisory storm warnings posted here late today by the weather bureau indicated the passage of the tropical hurricane over or near Miami early tonight. The announcement was issued by Forecaster Richard W. Gray, of the local bureau, following local observations and other advice.

The warning in substance contradicted Key West reports that the hurricane centered late today off Cuba would veer into the Bahamas.

Mr. Gray reported that the storm was rapidly approaching Key West, moving northeastward, and will pass shot without warning any persons discovered attempting to carry out depredations.

Five Persons Killed.
A house in the Calle Fernandez collapsed during the storm, killing five persons and wounding eight. Another house on the Malecon was inundated and fell. Thus far the authorities have been unable to explore the ruins. Many houses in the south are reported to have been wrecked or seriously damaged. From the mouth of the harbor to the monument erected in memory of the officers and men who were killed in the explosion on the United States battleship Maine in 1898 the water at times several meters deep along the Malecon. The Maine monument was destroyed except for its base.

The principal hotels tonight were filled with many Americans who reside in the suburbs, but who came into the city yesterday following the report of an approaching storm. No Americans are reported as having been killed or injured, but some of their homes are said to have been rendered uninhabitable.

In the first emergency hospital there are three dead and 170 injured, some of them seriously.

A large number of steamers and sailing vessels were either sunk or damaged. Forty fishing boats went to the bottom. All launches and small boats practically were washed away by the heavy seas.

Naval Vessels Sunk.
The Cuban naval vessels 24 Febrero and Hatuey were sunk, and the light cruiser Patria damaged. The steam ship Meximo Gomez broke from her mooring and was driven about the harbor coming into collision with many ships; she finally rested up against the dock.

The Spanish steamers Antonio Lopez and Barcelona were damaged. The schooner Maria Mercedes, Maria del Carmen, Enriqueta and Crisidilla were sunk. The Cuban steamers Lela and Puerta Tarifa also went to the bottom, and the French steamer Grand and a steamer of the West Indian company suffered severe damage.

The Governor Cobb and the Orizaba are safe. The British steamer Ulua was unable to enter port but it was safe. Numerous wharves were wrecked, as well as the Beloit and gasoline storage tanks.

REFUGEES FLOCK TOWARDS NORTH.
Fort Pierce, Fla., October 21.—(AP)—The approach of the West Indian hurricane into the vicinity of Florida was heralded locally tonight by a rapidly falling barometer. At 9:45 a. m. the reading was 29.02, but 62 above the lowest record during the storm of September. The reading at that hour was 22 below that recorded at 5 p. m.

An exodus of persons from the south was noticeable here, although the majority were remaining in Fort Pierce which was not seriously struck by the disastrous storms of last month.

At 10:45 the barometer had taken a rise to 29.06, giving indications that the storm was passing into the Atlantic.

At that hour railroad telegraphic reports here were that the barometer reading at Miami was 29.32.

NINETY-MILE GALE HITS KEY WEST.
Key West, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—The tropical storm struck Key West this afternoon, raging four hours with the wind reaching a velocity of 90 miles an hour. Save for a few windows smashed and street signs blown down, no damage was caused. There were no casualties.

The hurricane was believed to have swerved in the direction of the Bahama Islands as it proceeded up the coast.

NO DANGER IS SEEN OF STORM AT TAMPA.
Tampa, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—Walter J. Bennett, government forecaster here, declared tonight that the West Indian hurricane was in the Florida straits, moving northeast. He said there was no danger of a hurricane in Tampa or vicinity.

EMERGENCY WARNINGS ARE POSTED.
Miami, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—Emergency advisory storm warnings posted here late today by the weather bureau indicated the passage of the tropical hurricane over or near Miami early tonight. The announcement was issued by Forecaster Richard W. Gray, of the local bureau, following local observations and other advice.

The warning in substance contradicted Key West reports that the hurricane centered late today off Cuba would veer into the Bahamas.

Mr. Gray reported that the storm was rapidly approaching Key West, moving northeastward, and will pass this section, with gales reaching hurricane intensity.

A radio message from the S. S. Gulf Breeze at a point 50 miles south of Miami, reported a wind velocity of 50 miles an hour and falling barometer of 29.70 at noon today.

At 3:30 o'clock another driving rainstorm swept out of the sea over Biscayne bay and the city. The wind increased and traffic was at a standstill. Electric lights were in evidence generally as a result of the murky mid-afternoon darkness. The barometer had fallen to 29.63.

COUPLE FLEEING STORM INJURED AT MACON.
Macon, Ga., October 20.—(AP)—Fearing a recurrence of death and property loss such as followed in the wake of the West Indian hurricane that struck Miami last month, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. MacGillivray, of that city, mounted a motorcycle and its side car, respectively, to race with the elements from the threatened area of southern Florida.

Tonight they were in a hospital

while the fog-end of the storm was still blowing between 45 and 50 miles in Havana, the outer edge caught Key West with an 80-mile velocity at mid-afternoon, uprooting trees and causing minor damage. Indications were, however, that the full force of the gale would not strike the island, but that the center would pass in a northeasterly direction over the northern Bahama Islands.

The hurricane, which attained a velocity of 120 to 130 miles while it raged over the Cuban capital, uprooted trees, smashed plate glass windows and made impassable the famous Malecon promenade along the harbor. Loss of life and heavy property damage were believed to have been prevented in a large measure by the stone construction of most of the houses. A report that 150 homes had been demolished lacked verification.

Forewarned of the storm, every precaution was being taken in Key West and a relief train with doctors, nurses and medical supplies was ordered there from Miami by the American Red Cross. Relief workers also were dispatched to Tampa and Fort Lauderdale to await developments.

Meanwhile, as shipping was scurrying to cover, an SOS call was picked up at Key West from an unidentified ship, and the coast guard was asked to seek the American schooner from September 2, when she sailed from Tampa for Porto Rico with a cargo of lumber. The schooner was believed to be in the hurricane zone. She carries a crew of seven men and

BAROMETER FALLS AT ORLANDO.
Orlando, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—The barometer at the main plant of the Florida Public Service company at Benson Springs has fallen 6 points in the last three hours and is now standing at 29.96. K. M. Averall, chief dispatcher here, announced at 5:30 o'clock. Overcast skies cleared at sunset, giving no indication of an approaching storm.

JACKSONVILLE WIRES IN BAD CONDITION.
Jacksonville, Fla., October 20.—(AP)—The Western Union Telegraph company at 8:20 o'clock tonight reported that all of their wires into Miami were in more or less bad condition. At 7 o'clock the barometer there was at 29.45 and dropping about 5 points an hour. The wind was 25 to 30 miles an hour and increasing. A hard rain was falling.

CENTER OF HURRICANE PASSES KEY WEST.
Washington, October 20.—(AP)—The hurricane center passed Key West, Fla., about 5 p. m. tonight and headed off toward the Bahamas without causing material damage, coast guard headquarters were advised by their Key West station.

While the fog-end of the storm was still blowing between 45 and 50 miles in Havana, the outer edge caught Key West with an 80-mile velocity at mid-afternoon, uprooting trees and causing minor damage. Indications were, however, that the full force of the gale would not strike the island, but that the center would pass in a northeasterly direction over the northern Bahama Islands.

Deadly Radio Waves Seen As Preventive of Wars By Francil, 'Radio Wizard'

Crowds at Radio Show Hear of Powerful Wave and How It Can Be Applied To Outlaw Wars.

Radio will make future wars practically impossible, Maurice Francil, "America's radio wizard," said Wednesday night at the Atlanta Radio Electrical exposition during a demonstration of possibilities of a remote control of mechanical objects by radio.

Approximately 4,000 visitors witnessed the performance and heard the views of the inventor and entertainer on the future of radio.

"The death ray that has been discussed so much in the press is but slightly different from the radio wave," he said. "Its value is far reaching and as day is not far distant when it and radio waves will be used by police to stop engines of speeders and bandits."

"Just think what it would mean to the police of Elizabeth, N. J., when they were pursuing those mail robbers. Bullets could not stop the fleeing bandits but radio waves properly applied could halt them."

Use of Waves, Explosives. "The same force applied in a slightly different manner can be employed to start fires at a distance, and such action naturally would explode powder. Its use can be carried even further so as to supercede explosives in time of war. Inasmuch as the radio wave is nothing more than an electromagnetic wave, it is possible to change the substance so as to register an atomic value that will affect physical stagnation."

"The deadly effect of x-rays in certain forms, X-rays and similar rays, are well known. If there is ever an actual conflict between nations it will be with poison gases and light waves. "I have the wave that is deadly, too deadly for radio amateurs to learn of and to be permitted to experiment with, or to hazard its discovery by an enemy. For more than a year I have planned to ask the governor of some state for the privilege of demonstrating the death-dealing properties on a condemned murderer."

According to Francil, it was through accident that he stumbled onto the deadly ray.

Other Fine Features. Selections by the Emory Glee club double quartet appearing in behalf of the Community Chest, was an added attraction Wednesday night. Sponsored by the Seville Mercantile company, distributors for Stromberg-Carlson radios, the singers scored a triumph. They will appear again to night and Friday night at 10:30 o'clock.

Another attraction which has been added to the program which features Francil is the "girl friend" act of "May and June," radio artists from the Sears-Roebuck studio, WLS, at Chicago. The harmony team was brought here at the request of the Community Chest. The local Sears-Roebuck branch. They will sing twice daily at the exposition for the remainder of the week.

Miss Nellie Sullivan's group of dancers, in the elaborate "Radio Revue," continues to prove one of the most popular features of the amusement program. The entertainment is given daily at 3:30 and 9:15 p. m.

Postponement of amateur radio operators' contest until Friday night was announced Wednesday by Henry L. Reid, sectional chairman of the American Radio Relay League. Mr. Reid and Major Walter Van Nostrand, Jr., will be judges and the award will be a Grebe short wave set.

Out-of-Town Visitors. Arrival of several groups of out-of-town dealers swelled attendance at the Wednesday preview showing arranged for those affiliated with the radio and electrical trades.

On Wednesday night previous attendance records for the week were broken. The aisles were jammed with patrons viewing the attractive displays of electrical appliances and equipment and radio sets and supplies of every nature.

Sam D. Katz, president of the Atlanta Radio-Trade association, which is sponsoring the show in conjunction with the Atlanta Electrical League, was much elated over the attendance.

"I never saw such a carnival spirit prevailing among patrons of an indoor show of merchandise," he said. "We hear on every hand that the show is the most beautiful indoor exposition ever held here, and radio men who attended the recent radio show in St. Louis say Atlanta's show is not only much more beautiful but is enjoying much larger attendance."

PIKE COUNTY GIVEN FIRST PRIZE AT FAIR

Montgomery, Ala., October 20.—(AP)—Pike county won first prize in the new agricultural contest, at the Macon fair now in progress here, the award having been made last night. The first prize is $500. In the individual displays, D. L. Patrick, of Griffin, won $200 as the first prize; E. L. Shackelford, Griffin, second; and Mrs. J. J. Gallibert, of White Bluff, Ga., won third place. Habersham county won first place in the apple exhibit.

In the list of county displays, the second prize went to Butts county. Troup county came third; Spalding, fourth; Meriwether, fifth, and Laurens, sixth.

8 Pairs of Brothers Occupy Same Dormitory At Georgia University

Athens, Ga., October 20.—(AP)—One-third of the space in New College, the second oldest dormitory on the University of Georgia campus, is occupied by kinmen this fall. A recent check by college officials showed that eight pairs of brothers, all students in the university, are rooming under the one roof.

In six of the eight cases the younger brother is a freshman while the elder brother is a junior. Two of the brothers are twins, D. W. Johnson, a junior, and C. M. Johnson, a freshman, both of Dalton. The younger Johnson is the fifth son of that family to enroll in the state university.

The other brothers rooming in the dormitory are J. A. and F. D. Garl, of Washington; E. H. and H. C. Sheehy, of Springfield; C. O. and H. A. Parker, of Lavonia; C. H. and E. H. Bishop, of Ashburn; A. F. and E. E. Jenkins, of Danielsville; O. E. and R. E. Hughes, of Thompson; and H. C. and H. D. Williams, of Auburn.

Queen Marie's Welcome Smaller Than Ederle's

New York, its initial welcome to Queen Marie a flop because of bad weather, is preparing to make up for it before she begins her western tour. Photo shows the crowd that braved rain to see her parade to Pennsylvania station to entrain for Washington. A much greater reception was given the returning Gertrude Ederle.

Flying Officers Held in Killing Of Man by Plane

Montgomery, Ala., October 20.—(AP)—Three officers of the Maxwell flying field were arrested here tonight on charges of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the killing of Frank G. Browder, 38, Confederate veteran, who was instantly killed when struck by a low-flying plane near Montgomery today.

The officers arrested are Lieutenants A. J. Lehman, J. C. A. Dennison and Claire Stroh. They are being held in custody at the field under orders of Major H. H. C. Richards pending court martial.

Mr. Browder was in a cotton field four miles east of Montgomery when a plane dipped down over a group of cotton pickers, apparently with the intention of frightening them. A part of the plane, believed to have been the landing gear, struck Mr. Browder on the head and slightly injured a negro, Clarke Henry, who was standing close by.

The plane then soared and circled high above the field, but at such a height the number was not discernible.

Major Richards stated that the evidence against Lieutenants A. J. Lehman, J. C. A. Dennison and Claire Stroh, who he would probably be released.

Date for the court martial has not been set, pending arrival of Inspector General Wagner from Atlanta tomorrow.

THOMAS OSBORNE DIES SUDDENLY

Auburn, N. Y., October 20.—(AP)—Thomas Mott Osborne, noted prison reform advocate and former warden of Sing Sing prison, dropped dead on the street here tonight.

Mr. Osborne's body was found in the street and taken to an undertaking establishment, where it was identified. Death was attributed to heart disease.

Owned Newspaper. A native of Auburn, Mr. Osborne was managing the family which owned the Osborne Plow company, later absorbed by the International Harvester company, and he was for many years owner and publisher of The Auburn Citizen.

Mr. Osborne, however, was best known for his work as a reformer of methods of prison administration. About fifteen years ago, by his own direction, he was confined in Auburn prison as "Tom Broen," and out of that incarceration he recommended many reforms, suggested by his novel jail experience.

Later, as warden of Sing Sing prison, he had a stormy career, particularly over formation of the Mutual Welfare league, an organization of prisoners for self-government. Many controversies centered about his administration of the prison. Later still Mr. Osborne was in charge of the naval prison at Portsmouth, N. H.

Obtains Many Pardons. He was active in obtaining paroles of many prisoners who were in his charge, and when they succeeded in getting discharges from the prison, obtained jobs for them.

Mr. Osborne, a leader of the upstate independent democracy, was an opponent of Tammany Hall at many of the party's conventions.

Mr. Osborne is survived by four sons, David M., Charles D., Lithgow and Robert Osborne, all of this city, and one sister, Mrs. J. J. Sorrow, of Boston. His wife, who was Agnes Devereux of Cambridge, Mass., died in 1896, ten years after they were married.

QUEEN LISTENS TO RADIO SPEECH. New York, October 20.—(AP)—While Queen Marie and her party were returning to New York tonight on the "Queen Marie Special," the queen was listening in on a radio speech by Captain Herbert E. Hartley, of the steamship Leviathan.

Captain Hartley spoke on "The Queen as a Passenger," giving his impressions of the Rumanian sovereign on a tender. I realized that she was, after all, just a woman with an irresistible charm and remarkable beauty. As a speech of welcome I had in mind just what would be appropriate, but her affable and spontaneous manner made me forget my little address. She is a brilliant conversationalist and in a few moments I was made at ease.

"Don't think for a minute that the queen isn't modern in every way. She enjoyed smoking a cigarette, usually only one, and here was another royal compliment—she preferred American cigarettes."

QUEEN'S ITINERARY IS ANNOUNCED

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.) Washington, October 20.—Formal announcement of the itinerary to be followed by Queen Marie in her unofficial tour of Canada and America, and the personnel of the party, was made public here today.

The announcement was given out at the office of John H. Carroll, general counsel of the Great Northern railway and representative of Samuel Hill, Washington millionaire, and host of the queen during her American tour.

Miss Lois Fuller, veteran dancer and intimate friend of the queen, is listed among the guests, but the name of Radu Djuvara, the Rumanian charge d'affaires at Washington is not included in the official party.

Others aside from the queen, Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas include: Mme. Simone LaHovary, Mme. Princip, Miss Mary, three gentlemen of honor, aide-de-camp, Albert Firman, Mr. Chardon, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morris, consul general; two secretaries to the queen, Miss Lois Fuller, Miss G. Block, Mr. Maurice, secretary to Miss Fuller; six maids and four men servants.

The schedule omits California from the list of states to be visited, and takes the queen's party to Chicago on November 13, four days earlier than under the discarded program.

Tomorrow the queen goes to Philadelphia for the sesqui-centennial exposition, returning to New York Friday. She leaves New York city Monday morning, stopping during that day at Garrison, Albany, Syracuse and Buffalo. Her detailed itinerary thereafter follows:

Queen Kisses Mother Who Lost Her Son

Impulsive Caress Given To Express Sympathy at Annapolis.

On Board Queen Marie's Special Train, En Route to New York, October 20.—(AP)—A mother's kiss of understanding sympathy was given by Queen Marie, of Rumania, today to a woman who had lost her son at Annapolis.

The bereaved mother was Mrs. Butler Wright, wife of the assistant secretary of state. She has been with the queen since the state department took over supervision of her trip to Washington on Monday.

Standing under the rainsoaked canvas pavilion on the parade grounds of the naval academy reviewing the regiment of midshipmen, Queen Marie was told by one of the officers in attendance on her that the wife of the assistant secretary of state had lost a son in training at the academy.

"Turning to Mrs. Wright, who was standing near her, the queen noticed that her eyes were full of tears," said Madame Simone LaHovary, the queen's lady in waiting, explaining the incident which at the time had puzzled those who witnessed it. "She leaned forward impulsively and kissed Mrs. Wright on the cheek, murmuring words of understanding sympathy."

OF INCOME TAX QUEEN MARIE FREE ON U. S. EARNINGS

Washington, October 20.—(AP)—Queen Marie is immune from America's income tax.

While tax experts worried over the problem today, Garrard H. Winston, the under secretary of the treasury, decided that the queen is not liable to a tax on her earnings in this country.

Mr. Winston took the view that international law, mutually providing immunity for diplomatic representatives, would exempt her majesty.

cough, and warned the queen that she would have to be more careful not to overtax her strength, if she wished to complete her American tour without her health suffering.

"Now I am afraid I shall have to look after myself," the queen told reporters, smiling ruefully.

WHY Do We Bear This Heavy Extra Expense?

Consider the matter of pasteurization from our standpoint. We select every herd that furnishes Pedigree Milk. We inspect every dairy from which our milk comes. No milk in the city comes from cleaner, healthier sources. Why don't we save money and market this milk without pasteurization? Why have we gone to the heavy expense of installing elaborate equipment to heat, cool and handle that good, clean milk, as science advises?

We bear this cost obviously and only because we know that, no matter how clean the source of our milk may be, pasteurization is the only guarantee of absolute bacteriological purity. A product less unquestionably safe we do not wish to market.

We have invested over $150,000.00 in an Atlanta Pasteurizing Plant and bear the heavy daily operating expense willingly and happily because we believe with Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, professor of Bacteriological Investigation, of Harvard University, who said: "Pasteurization saves lives and prevents sickness. It does not injure the quality of the milk in any way and does not diminish its nutritive value. Pasteurization is the cheapest form of life insurance the customer can take out."

Women say that to each other with an air of assurance. They say it with confidence born of hearsay and experience. At first glance it would appear strange that they should say it when they are talking about purchases that have disappointed them in some way—

Because it is perfectly natural for people to complain about such things! When merchandise doesn't suit your purpose, or looks a bit different at home than it did in the store, it is natural enough to be displeased.

But when women say—"They'll make it right!" in a pleased tone of voice, they are talking about Davison-Paxon-Stokes Co. And the knowledge that our liberal adjustments will make it right gives them confidence and takes away the sting of temporary disappointment.

Baptist Heads Say Divorce To Destroy Land in Century

DISCUSS REMEDIES IN CHRISTIAN INDEX

"The present divorce rate in the United States will destroy our nation in another hundred years," declares the editor of The Christian Index, official organ of the Georgia Baptist convention, in commenting on twelve special articles on divorce in the current issue of that magazine.

The Index presents a symposium by twelve prominent men and women which sets out the tendency of the nation in the matter of increasing divorce. It is a striking array of facts and observations. It is the belief of the editor that "the strength of the nation is its home life" and it is indicated in this symposium that there is an increasing breakdown of the homes with one out of every six marriages terminating in divorce.

Dr. W. J. McGlothlin, president of Furman university, Greenville, S. C., contributes one of the articles to the symposium. President McGlothlin says:

"The frequency and rapid increase in the rate of divorce in the United States in recent years are causing universal alarm among thoughtful people. It is generally recognized as a symptom of moral decadence and at the same time as a cause of further decay. It is well that there should be general and serious discussion of the situation among that element of the American people to whom we must look for moral leadership."

"A very few facts will serve to set the essence of the situation before us. As to the frequency of divorce consider the following statistics made on good authority. In 1922 there were 136 divorces to every 100,000 of population, one divorce to every 7.6 marriages in the United States as a whole, while the rate in many of the individual states was much worse.

Rate of Increase.

"As to the rate of increase the following figures tell the story. During the ten years preceding and including 1876 there were in the country as a whole 122,121 divorces; during the next ten years the number increased to 206,295; during the next decade the number rose to 352,363, the next to 593,262, and during the next 10 years, including 1916, the number reached the staggering total of 975,728. In the year 1922 alone the number increased 11 per cent. Thus in half a century the country granted more divorces than in the entire history of the nation, separating twice as many people and causing 1,700,000 children to be left either fatherless or motherless. Such a record in the history of the world constitutes a moral and social problem of tremendous scope and significance."

"What shall we do about it? Is there any cure for this growing evil? For one thing, we must turn on the light. Compel the American people to realize, visualize the enormity of the evil that is going on with the aid of the legal machinery of the nation. Once fully awake to the situation they will find a remedy. The country is so enormous and so powerful that the nation can be aroused only by herculean effort, but once awake and active the power of good is irresistible. This generation has seen many great reforms that seemed almost impossible come with an overwhelming rush. Turn on the light."

Remedies Suggested.

Dr. A. B. Boone, pastor of the First Baptist church, Memphis, offers the following remedy for the situation:

"First, the creation of a strong sentiment in the home against divorce in general. Divorces for the future will come from those who are not now of marriageable age. Second, those should be law in every state, if not in our national government, requiring at least a 30-day notice of a marriage. Third, the regeneration and consecration of every soul. The divorce evil must be overcome by the gospel of the blessed Lord."

Judge E. D. Thomas of Fulton superior court, attributes much of our divorce tendencies to whisky. He points out the fact that in the divorce cases he tries he finds "a very large percentage of the cases intoxication and cruel treatment are charged."

Judge Thomas goes on to say:

"I also find that in a large majority of these cases, the wife is the complaining party and that these marriages occurred when the wife was between the age of 15 and 20 years. A careful questioning of these plaintiffs also disclosed that their courtship lasted from three to 12 months, and I am impressed with the fact that for it is a fact that in practically every case the wife suffered personal abuse, insults and often serious personal injury for a long period of time before finally filing suit. In only a small majority of the cases are divorces suits hastily filed."

"From the time that Moses gave us our first law until the present, divorce has been frowned upon. The serious question, therefore, before us is the prevention of divorces."

Liquor Blamed.

"After all, the prevention of the cause for divorce lies within the grasp of the individual, and if our earnest prayer should be, 'Give us a clean heart, oh God, renew a right spirit within us,' the desire for drink, and the brutish instinct which leads to the surface while under its influence to do violence to some helpless person—which is usually the wife or child—would be largely removed. Of course, when differences between the husband and wife arise—and they arise in all families—if they would not discuss their differences until 'cooling time' had elapsed, many quarrels would never occur."

"You very seldom see a defendant in a divorce court who regularly attends his church or Sunday school, and I am often reminded of seeing a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it is still an indisputable truth. The trouble our children get into when they are grown is to be directly attributed to a failure of duty on the part of their parents, and must be laid on the heads of the fathers if they fail in this duty. I am also strongly of the opinion that, in those homes where the family altar is kept lighted, and the family Bible is constantly read, and the children are regularly taken (not sent) to Sunday school and church, the children will not be cursed in after years by defending a divorce suit."

Hasty Marriages Rapped.

Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor First Baptist church, Shreveport, La., says:

"Marrying in haste and getting a divorce at leisure is the greatest evil confronting our nation today. Divorce is a cancerous growth on the body politic. It is a great social evil which is sapping the strength of our nation. It is a disease, a malignant disease, and we can only deal with it by getting at the causes which underlie hasty and ill-founded marriages."

Dr. James R. Turner, pastor of the First Baptist church, Albany, believes that we face the "peril of breaking down an institution given of God" when we allow the homes of our land to be destroyed. He goes on to say:

"Disrupt marriage and the home tatters. Even think lightly of marital vows and the home reflects the thought."

"Marriage is a law of God. That is fundamental. In the beauty of the first wedding occurred, when we allow the homes of our land to be destroyed. He goes on to say:

"Disrupt marriage and the home tatters. Even think lightly of marital vows and the home reflects the thought."

BROKER CASE GOES TO JURORS TODAY

TO JURORS TODAY

Introduction of defense testimony tending to show the legitimacy of brokerage business of the firm of Fenner & Beane will be continued this morning before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court in the case of B. L. Layton, charged with operating the local branch of the brokerage concern as a "bucket shop."

Herbert H. Brown, of the local branch of Fenner & Beane, was on the stand at the time court recessed Wednesday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock. He is slated to resume testimony this morning and the case probably will reach the jury this afternoon.

Charles E. Fenner, of New Orleans, president of the concern, was the first witness called by the defense after the state rested its case Tuesday shortly after noon. He also continued his testimony Wednesday morning, being on the stand practically the entire day.

Testimony of Mr. Brown and Mr. Fenner dealt with business transactions of the Atlanta office. They said orders received here were telegraphed to the head offices either in New Orleans or New York, where they were sent to the stock exchange and the actual contract made for purchase of the commodity requested by the Atlanta customer. Confirmation of the contract is made by letter from the home office to the customer, it was added. Technical details of handling cotton contracts were given by both witnesses.

The state is attempting to prove that the local branch is a business for the purpose of dealing in futures on margin and, under the law, a gambling house. Several witnesses for the state testified that they bought futures on margin from the local branch and did not expect actual delivery of the cotton.

Solicitor John A. Boykin is being assisted in prosecution of the case by Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens and Attorneys Hooper Alexander and James W. Austin. The brokers are being represented by Judge Arthur G. Powell and Blair Foster, attorneys.

The Layton case is considered a test case and disposition of the other cases, it is understood, will depend upon the outcome of this case. Layton was one of 40 brokers indicted on misdemeanor charges following a series of raids conducted against cotton exchanges in this city in November 1924.

Arguments in misdemeanor cases are limited to 30 minutes for each side, but it is expected that additional time will be asked by attorneys for arguments in this case.

Youth Loses Hand As Firecracker Suddenly Bursts

As Firecracker Suddenly Bursts

His right hand badly mangled and his left arm dangerously wounded, W. C. Burton, 20, was rushed to the Grady hospital Wednesday following the explosion of a giant firecracker, which he believed had not been kindled by the first match put to the fuse while playing in the rear of his home on Lakewood terrace, Lakewood Heights, Sunday.

Surgeons at the hospital, battling to save the boy's life, were forced to amputate the youth's right hand at the wrist.

Tom Hyler, a friend of the Burton lad, who witnessed the accident and accompanied the injured youth to the hospital, had warned his friend to drop the bomb after the first attempt to light it. Burton believing the fuse not ignited was about to relight it when the explosion came.

Young Burton is the son of Sam Burton, employee of The Southern Ruralist. He is a senior at Boys High school, where he was pitcher on the baseball team. His failure to heed the warning of his friend will put an end to his baseball career.

ALBERT SPALDING WILL PLAY HERE ON OCTOBER 28

The Atlanta Music club will present Albert Spalding, American violin virtuoso, as the second attraction of its civic concert series at the auditorium, Thursday, October 28, according to Mrs. C. H. Hatcher, president of the organization.

Spalding's entrance into the world was found in peeling potatoes in the steerage of a transport and ended with his decoration by the king of Italy, the highest honor ever conferred on a foreign born citizen, it is said.

He served for sometime in northern Italy as a member of the Red Cross, and received the military fatigue ribbon. Under the patronage of the queen mother of Italy he constantly gave concerts for the benefit of the American Red Cross.

The negro, according to testimony, entered the Fulton Grocery company on the night of September 29 and stole a quantity of cigars and cigars.

Odell Poole and Buddie McGinnery, negroes, were jointly indicted with Baker in the true bill charging burglary and were placed on trial immediately after the sentence of Baker was passed.

The jury is slated to receive their case today and recommend sentences. The state is being represented in the case by Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson.

DANIELS ATTACKS RECORD OF G. O. P. IN OHIO SPEECH

Mansfield, Ohio, October 20.—(AP)—Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, attacked the republican agricultural record in an address here tonight in behalf of the democratic party in Ohio.

"The republican party," Mr. Daniels said, "pledged itself to the department and enactment of measures which would place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industries to insure prosperity and success."

"Its only pretense of fulfilling the promises," he continued, "was to increase the tariff rates on agricultural products. The price of products fell under that legislation and farmers had to pay higher prices for everything they bought."

The former member of Woodrow Wilson's cabinet declared that the Fordney tariff act promised the farmers prosperity by high protection, and that it had become the "refuge and subsidy of monopoly."

Worn Out Army Mule Sales Halted by Hagood's Order

BY JULIA WOODS WAGNER.
(Wife of Colonel Henry S. Wagner, of the Fourth Corps Area.)

Last week, the tragedy of an auction sale of mules was about to take place at Fort McPherson. No one paid much attention to it, one way or the other—a mere matter of routine.

Offers were being received—scant, miserable pittance—for 10 condemned army mules.

The army mule, whose labor has been regulated, who "as had out and hay aplenty, and shelter, though long years—suddenly finds himself, after one of these auctions, toiling, vaguely, with scant food and no shelter, too frequently unshod on unaccustomed city pavements, growing more and more painfully stiff and sore, and exhausted, until finally humane officers end a misery which should never have been permitted by the government of the richest nation in all the world.

The Atlanta Humane society learned of this sale and visited General John son Hagood at fourth corps area headquarters. His sympathies were aroused and a fair wand, as it were, was waved. An order was issued, not only to Fort McPherson, but to every army post in all eight states in the fourth corps area, that hereafter all condemned animals will be destroyed unless the purchaser is definitely known to be a reliable and responsible person.

And so all over the south—Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, the condemned army mule and the polo pony, a little stiff and "over-at-the-knees" from helping win laurels for the army team will eat their last full meal and be led out amidst familiar surroundings, where a merciful bullet will forever keep them from life in which they would find no mercy.

The writer visited these mules as they stood on the picket line and commended with old Mollie and her team-mate as they drank at the water trough for the last time, (good old Mollie, 22 years old) and looking at the calm in Mollie's eyes one knew that she had found it a good world.

There was no distress there, such as one sees almost certainly in the eyes of animals on the streets, overworked and uncared for.

It was not difficult to believe that had she been given a choice Mollie would have chosen to go as she was going, within the hour.

General Hagood has long been a leader of men. Now we know him, too, as a friend of helpless and dumb creatures who cannot speak for themselves. And for this all humanitarians must love and honor him.

Alabama Gourd Vine Breaks—Well, Read It for Yourself

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Even lowly gourd vines, when they outstrip their fellows in worthy fields of achievement, are as much entitled to newspaper glory as queens of Rumania. Aimee Semple McPherson and the scintillating sovereigns of the cinema. The story of such a vine was brought to Atlanta Wednesday by a state politician. Because his name has been linked with that of the humble peanut by his opposing politicians, he will not permit his name to be used averring that he draws the line at gourds.

But the story:

Just across the Georgia line in Alabama, in Cherokee county, near the ancient town of Center, is a gourd vine that has broken new records.

Statistics compiled by the peanut pol—by the politician—show that the gourd vine sprang up in a pasture on the Lamar Smith farm operated by the Lamar brothers. It began growing at a rapid rate; soon crossed the pasture to a barn, ran over the barn to a wire fence; ran out on the wire fence to the road, and at last accounts was headed toward Georgia at a rapid rate of speed. It has now on its stems 311 matured gourds of every conceivable size and shape, and some 2 which are not yet matured.

This botanical behemoth is increasing its speed daily and at the present rate of increase will soon be travel-half a mile a day. Its gourds are so large the people are cutting them in half and using them for wash tubs. Farmers living in the path of the approaching vine are burrowing into trenches for the winter. A circus owner is on the ground experimenting with the leaves to perfect a new kind of tent. Portions of the vine are being clipped off for telephone poles, while small stems are being used for crosses.

Some of the larger gourds are being skinned and the skin used for balloons at county fairs. One of its gourds with dry seeds rattling in it dropped off the vine, so the people elected it to congress, where it will be in congenial company.

At its present daily increases in speed, the gourd vine will reach Atlanta late in the fall. When it bursts into this city Dr. Arkwright Atkinson, the eminent electrical expert, will harness it to a windlass shaped machine which will develop enough electric power to extend transmission lines to Patagonia, Alaska and the Fiji islands.

IMPARTIAL, NON-SECTARIAN WELFARE FOR ALL RACES, ALL CREEDS

Let's Get Hard Boiled About This Thing

... What Do We Get Out of the Community Chest?

NO USE getting sentimental over this Community Chest business. Let's talk it over minus all the twiddle-twaddle.

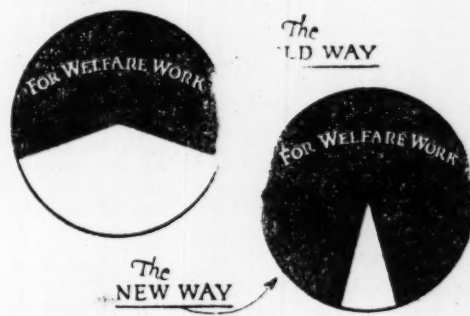

We've had a pretty good year. Our prosperity has contributed to the general prosperity, and if prosperity hadn't been general, we wouldn't have gotten ours.

The idea is to keep prosperity and happiness general, as far as it is humanly possible to do so. But there are those who are not so fortunate. Sickness, neglect, crime—a hundred and one things see to it that a lot of people suffer. It's up to us to help them—and not only to help those already down, but to prevent further suffering, so that the condition won't spread and finally get closer and closer to our own, our personal, our general happiness and prosperity.

That's the welfare worker's job. To take people who would be a burden on the community and help them to economic independence. He guides into constructive paths those who might otherwise become enemies to society. He keeps down taxes because he keeps down public charity and lessens the population of our jails and chain-gangs.

Now, why is the Community Chest the best way of doing this?

The Community Chest centralizes the efforts of all the agencies necessary to this work. It makes your dollar go 34 different ways. It sends 91½ cents out of every dollar you contribute into

A Saving of 32% or More

Before there was a Community Chest, it cost 40% and often as much as 60% to collect and administer the Welfare Funds of Atlanta.

34 separate drives, 34 separate organizations for collection of pledges. 34 separate organizations of Welfare Workers—each with its own complete overhead.

The Community Chest spends only 4½% for collection, and 4% for administration.

Under the Community Chest, therefore, 91½% of your money goes to the poor, the needy instead of the 60, 50 and often 40% that went in former days.

actual constructive work, instead of anywhere from 60 to 40 cents under the old plan of 34 different drives—each with tremendous overhead and money-raising expense.

Directed by respected citizens, who give their time without pay, the Chest organization controls the spending of your money. Centralized, co-ordinated welfare makes your dollars do a maximum work. Each agency has its own job, and does it.

Instead of having 34 separate organizations take up your time, asking for money, showing you how they help—you can give once to the Chest, and know that your investment in prosperity will be well handled. You know that your money will go where it is needed most, for your good, for the city's good, for the protection of your present and future prosperity.

When you plan how much you will give, stop hinking in terms of what you gave last year. Think instead of how much money, in taxes, in depreciation of property, in many other subtle ways, the Community Chest has saved you during the last few years, and how much it will save you next year.

And give a generous percentage of that saving.

Subscribe. Over-subscribe! Atlanta is growing fast; the need for Welfare Work is growing with it. Share your prosperity—and it will return to you: shared prosperity is the soundest investment you can make.

Plans Laid for Increasing Scenic Highway Importance; Marvel Reelected President

A. S. H. Association Convention Comes to Close Here Wednesday After Busy Program.

Adopting plans for making the Appalachian Scenic highway an important artery of traffic between the east and the south, and reelecting Roscoe Marvel, of Asheville, N. C., as president, the second annual session of the association came to a close here Wednesday. The next annual session of the association will be held in Toronto, Can.

Georgia officers of the association entertained the visiting delegates at a luncheon immediately after the business session. At this luncheon President Marvel was presented with a gold watch as a token of the esteem in which he is held by members of the association.

Other officers elected Wednesday were E. M. Tierney, Birmingham, N. Y., vice president of the northern division, and Major John S. Cohen, of Atlanta, vice president of the southern division. Officers reelected were Eugene R. Branch, Asheville, N. C., secretary and treasurer; Harlow Branch, Atlanta, publicity director; Fred Houser, Atlanta, recording secretary; and Harvey Holman, Asheville, chairman public relations committee. Three honorary vice presidents were named as follows: John H. Tappan, Asheville; Frank Reynolds, Atlanta; and James G. Stikeleather, Asheville.

Wednesday's Speakers. Among speakers at the Wednesday session were James G. Stikeleather, Fred Houser, E. S. Barker and Harvey Holman. Seven bids for locations on southern branches of the highway were submitted by delegates representing various southern cities. F. J. Cranston, of Montgomery, Ala., pointed out advantages of that city. Frank Nelson, of Birmingham, discussed Alabama's highway program.

Other cities represented were Americus, Ga., by Lovelace Evers; Lake City, Fla., by Chester W. Stewart; Thomasville, by J. E. Danahy; Thomas, by Henry Birdsong; Cordale, by W. H. Morris; Macon, by Lincoln McConnell; Albany, by Mayor E. H. Kalman. Other citizens from these places were present in the delegation.

Resolutions were adopted thanking Henry S. Morganthau and Adolph S. Ochs, of New York; Franklin D. Roosevelt and Will Rogers for attending the convention.

In another resolution, the Georgia highway commission was asked to take action immediately in closing the highway from Atlanta to the north Georgia line and also to work out plans for hard surfacing this road at as early a date as possible. Another resolution was adopted thanking various organizations along the route between Asheville and Atlanta for reception of the motorcade which made this trip Monday morning.

Also thanking Major Cohen for the banquet tendered the visitors at the Piedmont Driving club Tuesday night.

Address of President. President Marvel, in his speech at the session Wednesday, said the association would make efforts to turn the Appalachian highway into one of the "main streets of America." At present the highway touched national scenic landmarks and recreation centers and runs to more historic shrines than any other highway in America, according to President Marvel.

Chambers of commerce and other civic organizations in towns located on the highway will be asked to cooperate to the fullest extent in carrying out a program which will make the Appalachian highway one of the most important in America both for pleasure and for commercial purposes, Mr. Marvel declared.

After short trips around Atlanta, a large number of the delegates left Wednesday night. Some returned to Asheville and points between that city and Atlanta, while some continued the trip to Florida.

Routes of the highway south of Atlanta running from Atlanta to New Orleans and Atlanta to Tampa and Miami will be selected by a committee named as follows: James G. Stikeleather, chairman; John H. Enwright, Jr., Keller Bennett, Henry H. Estes, Frank Reynolds, W. Tom Winn and W. G. Meador.

Murder Charged To Nell Oberlin, R. C. McDuffie

An indictment charging murder was returned by the Fulton county grand jury in special session Wednesday against Nell Oberlin, alias "Mrs. Jack Lance," and R. C. McDuffie, of a North Boulevard address, in connection with the death of Mrs. E. M. Kirk, who was struck and almost instantly killed October 4 by a "hit-and-run motorist" at North Boulevard and Angier avenue.

Testimony to the grand jury was to the effect that the car which killed Mrs. Kirk was driven by McDuffie and that it was the property of Miss Oberlin.

Five counts were named in the true bill, alleging reckless driving; that they were driving at a speed greater than the state law; that they drove the machine past a street intersection at a greater speed than 10 miles an hour; that they violated the city ordinance stipulating a speed limit of 30 miles an hour, and that they "killed and murdered Mrs. E. M. Kirk with malice aforethought."

Special Session Called. The special session of the grand jury was called by the solicitor in order to avoid hearing on habeas corpus proceedings filed Tuesday by Eugene Dickey, attorney for Miss Oberlin and McDuffie, to secure the release of the two, alleging that the $1,500 bond assessed against them was excessive and that McDuffie was being held on a blanket charge of suspicion, without bond. The hearing, scheduled for 1 o'clock Wednesday before Judge L. Z. Rosser, was adjourned on account of grand jury action.

Miss Oberlin, alleged sweetheart of Jack Lance, suspect in the murder of Bert Donelson, McDuffie and John Willie Wright were arrested last Friday by county and city police. Miss Oberlin was wanted on an indictment charging a statutory offense and McDuffie and Wright on municipal court warrants charging assault and battery in connection with an alleged attack on Dr. Frank Edmondson, Fulton county game warden.

McDuffie and Wright were exonerated of the charge Wednesday in municipal court, following hearing before Judge L. Z. Rosser. Wright was represented by Attorney Audley M. Lane.

Dr. Edmondson claimed that McDuffie and Wright attacked him while they were riding in his automobile on Angier avenue near North Boulevard. He was severely beaten with clubs by his assailants, he declared.

Arrested Leaving Court. McDuffie was arrested by deputy sheriffs as he prepared to leave the municipal court room on bench warrants resulting from the return of a murder indictment. He and Miss Oberlin are now held without bond in Fulton tower.

Mrs. Kirk was struck down as she crossed North Boulevard after alighting from a street car. The driver of the machine did not stop, but a driver is said to have secured the license number of the machine, which, according to city detectives, was the same number as that carried by Miss Oberlin's automobile.

Charges of operating an automobile without proper license due to the fact that the license number on Miss Oberlin's car was issued for another car, and carrying concealed weapons are also held against Miss Oberlin in the criminal court of Atlanta. When arrested, she is alleged to have had a pistol in her hand bag.

1,000 CANDIDATES WILL JOIN K. OF P. DURING NEXT WEEK

Approximately 1,000 candidates will be initiated into the first or page rank of the Knights of Pythias next week in five Georgia cities when Richard S. White, of Macon, Wis., supreme chancellor; Alva M. Lumpkin, of Columbia, S. C., supreme vice chancellor; and Harry M. Love, of Minneapolis, Minn., supreme keeper of records and seals, will arrive in Georgia to conduct ceremonies.

Classes will be initiated next week in Savannah, Monday; Augusta, Tuesday; Atlanta, Wednesday; Macon, Thursday; and Thomasville, Friday.

A special team now being organized and rehearsed in Savannah, under the direction of Jule C. Sipple, grand chancellor, and William H. Leopold, grand keeper of records and seals, will supervise lodge officers in the degree work.

The Bible presented to Julius S. Rathbone, founder of the order, by his mother when he was a boy, and used by him to obligate the first seven men in creating the order, will be used in ceremonies in Georgia.

POWER ENGINEERS AID IN SOLVING TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Engineers of the Georgia Railway and Power company are cooperating with the traffic committee of city council in mapping out plans for one-way streets in Atlanta, it was announced Wednesday by Harry Roy, chairman of the committee.

Mr. Roy stated that his committee is considering a proposal submitted Monday to city council to make certain Atlanta streets one-way traffic arteries in order to expedite movement of vehicular traffic. He said cars are transporting 250,000 passengers daily and that careful consideration of problems of the company in caring for these persons is imperative before a final decision is reached.

ART EXHIBIT DRAWS BIG CROWDS DAILY

Crowds attending the exhibition of the Grand Central Art Galleries, now showing in the new High Museum of Art on Peachtree at Sixteenth street, continued to increase Wednesday.

Over 400 visitors attended the exhibition during the hours it was open. On Friday night at 8 o'clock, the Fourth National Bank club, with 100 members, will attend the exhibition in a body, and many other organizations are arranging dates for group tours of the museum, with the 300 magnificent examples of modern painting and sculpture now there, officials announced.

A group of 75 students of high school grade, from the Sacred Heart Parochial school were conducted through the museum Wednesday by Sidney Dickinson, A. N. A., one of the distinguished artists here for the exhibition, and R. P. Hinman, Mr. Hinman will conduct the Fourth National club on its inspection tour Friday.

Albert Sterner, N. A., famous portrait painter, lectured again Wednesday at 11 o'clock. He also began Wednesday morning a pastel portrait of Mrs. W. F. Shallenberger, the first commission undertaken since the exhibit opened here.

The exhibition brought here this year by the Grand Central Galleries is a finer and greater collection than any of the previous ones shown in this city, it is claimed. Realizing the significance of the opening of the magnificent new museum, given the city by Mrs. J. M. High, no pains were spared to make the collection the most and most representative possible of modern American art. Examples of the work of practically every outstanding American painter or sculptor are included.

The Atlanta Art Association, through which Mrs. High made her gift to the city, and which is sponsoring the exhibition, is delighted with the manner in which Atlantans have responded to this cultural event in the city's life. J. Carroll Payne, president, and J. J. Haverty, vice president, Wednesday expressed themselves as enthusiastically gratified over the attendance to date but expressed the hope that every Atlantian would take the opportunity to visit the exhibition before it ends the latter part of next week. To defray necessary expenses a small admission charge is made.

Seven pictures have been sold since the exhibition opened Monday.

THE PROBLEM:

What is the sum total of the figures forming the elephant? Simply add them up to get the solution.

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9, each standing alone. There are no "ones" or "elephens." There are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved, while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

General Rules of The Contest

1. All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, east and middle Tennessee, may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution, members of their families, and those who have won first and second awards in similar contest conducted by The Constitution.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the four amounts designated in the award list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered a solution cannot be changed.

3. The Atlanta Constitution offers these awards for individual or family solutions. While it is proper for members of the family to work together, or several friends to pool their resources, it is not permissible for more than one person to work on the puzzle. Only one solution will be accepted for each person, household or group of persons working together. When the judgment of the contest manager is in doubt, the Atlanta Constitution, more than one member of the family, or more than one group of persons, who it is believed have worked together, send in a solution of the puzzle, the right to receive the award shall be determined by the number of solutions submitted.

4. The Atlanta Constitution is to decide any questions which may arise and are not covered by the published rules, and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions and accept them as final and conclusive.

5. All solutions must be mailed or delivered to the Atlanta Constitution office on or before 3 o'clock Saturday, November 27, 1926. Solutions sent by mail bearing postmark of that date will be accepted. If rules governing the contest are changed, it will be extended from Sunday, October 17, to and including Saturday, November 27, 1926. Five days will be given thereafter for those who have not fully qualified for the larger award to do so.

6. In case of ties, as many awards will be awarded as there are people who, before any awards are awarded for less correct solutions another puzzle will be submitted to those tied. That is, if two or more people should tie on the best solution, the first two or more awards will be awarded for the tied solutions. If the puzzle is not solved, the puzzle will be used, after which should ties still result, each contestant will receive the full value of the prize tied for.

7. This contest is open to both new and old subscribers alike. 8. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month may send or bring directly to The Constitution the three, six or twelve months payment with the solution. Whatever is due such carrier, dealer or agent, must be paid to him as the remittance sent us will date from the date it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payment if all arrears are not paid the solution will not be considered valid. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the length of time paid for from the present paid date of expiration.

Deciding Ties---If Any

Actual Size, 11x7 Inches.

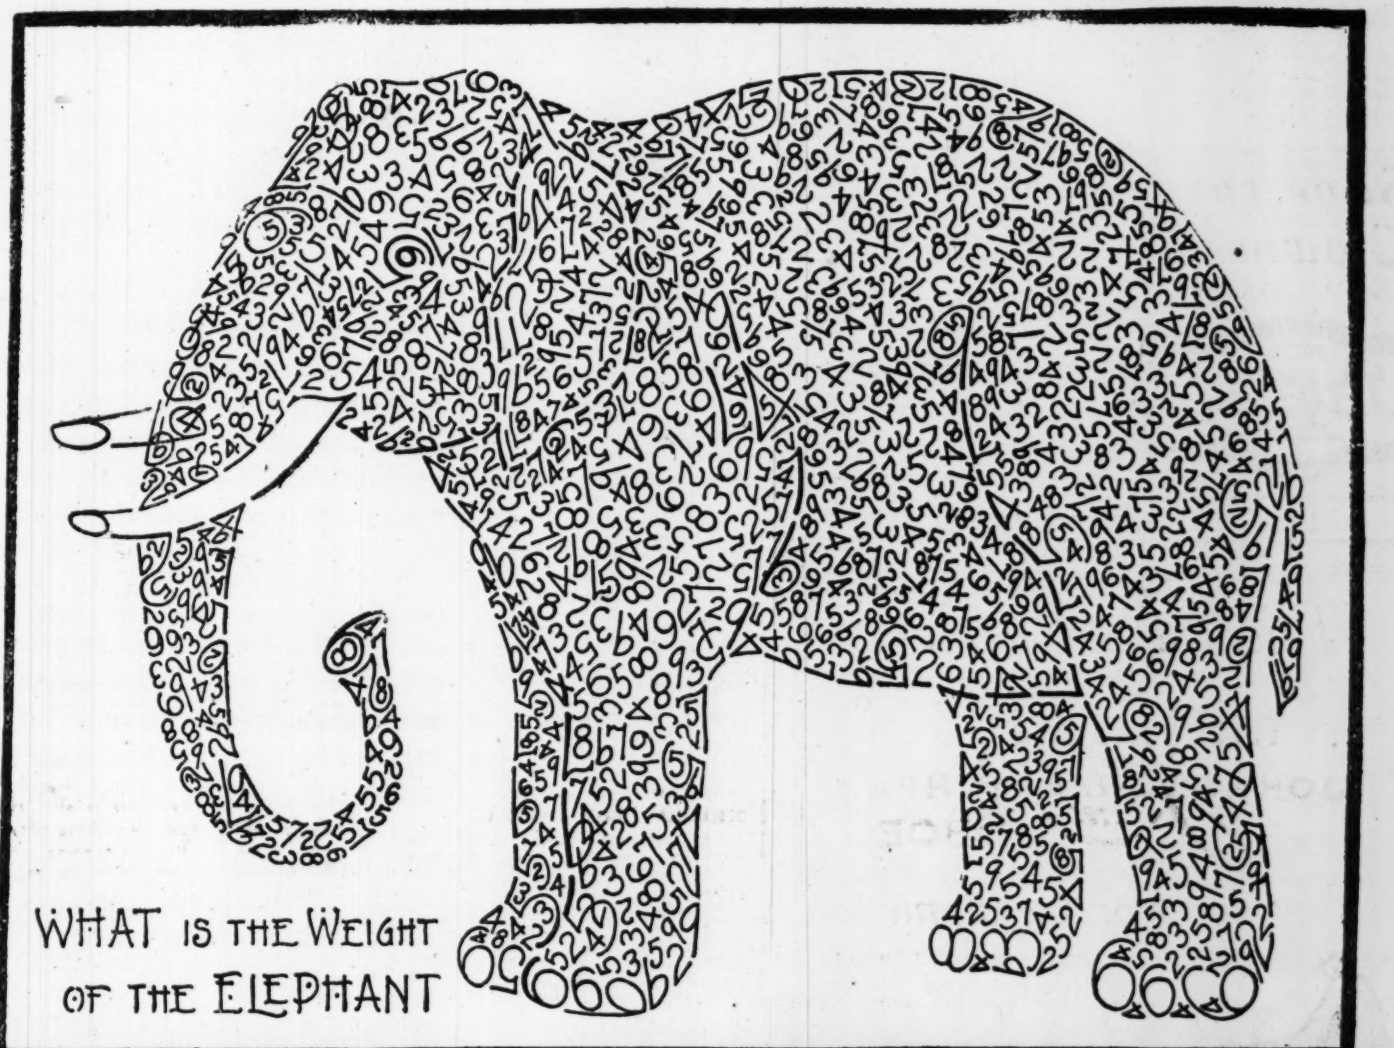

In case of ties those tied for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle, which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures, like the accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary this chart will be used five times, after which, should any tie remain, each contestant will receive full value of any prize tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting the Elephant no other puzzle of course, will be presented.

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the first nine awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the award list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

Tornado Goes Through Practice Scrimmage For W. and L.

First Heavy Workout For Invading General Is Held at Tech Flats

Firpo Martin May Be Disabled By Unusually Severe "Charley Hoss"—Parham and Marshall Back in Practice—Horn Will Be Out for Week.

BY CARTER BARRON.

WITH practically all of the injured men back on the field and taking part in the light workout which preceded the scrimmage, Coach Alexander Wednesday sent his charges through another stiff workout and scrimmage preparing them for the tilt with the Blue and White Generals from Washington and Lee Saturday.

Both Parham, star backfield man, and Johnny Marshall, speedy end of the jacket squad, were back in harness. Marshall did not scrimmage, however, due to the stitches in the cut over his eye, but Parham saw quite a bit of service, wearing a nose protector, known as the "bugaboo" mask.

In with the "Black Devils" doing the passing. The Jackets also did some pass work, completing several good ones. Following that part of the work came the heavy scrimmage in which the first and second string men took part against the Bjorkman boys. The "Devi's" ran rough-shod over the Jackets in the first of the scrimmage but later on the higher-ups got going and made it hard for Hank Bjorkman's men. The "Devi's" scored a touchdown shortly after the scrimmage was under way with a strong drive down the field. Later on the "Devi's" completed a long pass and carried the pigskin across for another six points.

Passing Good. They got away for several good gains and took the ball to the "Devi's" 20-yard line. Then a pass netted the Jackets about 15 yards, from where they carried it over the last yard line for a touchdown.

The Jacket's line worked in fine fashion and held the opposing men for down several times, just before the "Devi's" first score. The Bjorkman men put up a hard fight and had the opposing side going for the first of the scrimmage. After the long scrimmage, Don Miller took the first string men to the end of the lot and ran them through a long signal drill which lasted until dark.

The Jackets seem to be in better shape following their two-day training respite, every man being in fine spirit. Bob Horn, backfield man, will not be able to play in the W. & L. game next Saturday.

Dundee Purse Held

San Francisco, October 20.—(AP.) The State Athletic commission today ordered the holding up of Johnny Dundee's share of the purse in his junior lightweight championship fight with Tod Morgan here last night on the ground that Dundee was in no condition to fight. Morgan won the decision, retaining the championship. The commission contended there was evidence that Dundee entered the ring with a fractured arm, sustained in a recent fight back east. Dundee virtually fought with one arm for most of the fight, claiming that he fractured the other one early in the bout.

MORRIS BROWN MEETS CLARKE ON SATURDAY

BY J. C. CHUNN.

Morris Brown university will meet Clarke university at 2:30 o'clock, Saturday, October 23, on the Morris Brown Athletic field. Coach "Whirlwind" Johnson and Assistant Coach Clemmons are working overtime, preparing an offense for Clarke's fast running attack and aerial work.

The scrubs scored three touchdowns against the varsity, winning Clarke signals, which have been perfected in scrimmage. The varsity seemed unable to cope with the fast criss-crosses and air attack of the scrubs and only until the last of the scrimmage were they able to solve the new formations.

Coach Johnson has not yet announced the lineup he will send against the Clarke team. Cornell, Bailey, Smith, Robinson and Alexander are fighting for tackle positions. Ted Saunders, big all-conference center, is without doubt the best set of Coach Johnson for the pivot position and will be a constant menace to all faces directed to the line.

Warren at Guard. The big mentor of the Morris Brown team says Warren will stand at a guard position and the opposite guard will be between Nichols and Bailey. The backfield combination will probably be Robinson, center, with Captain Rembert Sampson, and Baker.

These backfield men form good running combination and boast of much speed. Coach Johnson says he will have his best team ready when the whistle blows.

Morris Brown's Schedule. Clarke university, October 23, at Morris Brown university.

Paine college, October 30, at Birmingham, Ala.

Tennessee State Normal, Nov. 13, at Morris Brown university.

Wilberforce university, November 13, at Wilberforce, Ohio.

Atlanta university, November 26, at Morris Brown university.

MOOREHOUSE TIGERS RETURN FROM CAPITAL.

The Moorehouse Tigers will meet the powerful eleven of Tuskegee institute in Tuskegee in what is considered the most important game of the colored conference.

The two schools have been rivals for championship honors for past years. Tuskegee is a slight favorite over the Moorehouse.

Coach Harvey and his men arrived in Atlanta Monday noon from their invasion of the east where they met the strong team of Howard university at Washington, D. C., and were given a drubbing. However, the following men of the Moorehouse team showed well in defeat: Captain Cooke, guard; Dixon, end; Lewis, center; and Latimer, tackle; due to their continued fighting and deadly tackling during the entire game.

The Moorehouse backfield men were especially off form and if the backs can be brought to the same level of development as the line, the Moorehouse Tiger can well have aspirations for a conference championship. Far from being discouraged, it is expected that the results of the game will inspire the Tiger and he will be found playing a much better game next Saturday against Tuskegee institute at Tuskegee.

It is expected that a great crowd will follow the Moorehouse Tigers to Tuskegee, and Moorehouse coaches are hoping the showing will be much better than it was against Howard last Saturday.

Saturday, it was announced at the flats. The doctors say that he can not take his hand out of cast until about Tuesday.

The Jackets are in for another hard day with a scrimmage being the biggest item on the menu. Dummy work and signal drills will also take up part of the afternoon.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Techsters Getting Serious.

There was an atmosphere of seriousness hovering over Grant field Wednesday afternoon when the varsity team of the Tornado scrimmaged against Washington and Lee plays as portrayed by Hank Bjorkman's Black Devils. And well there may be such an atmosphere. Tech has come to understand that the Generals are coming down here to beat what they believe is a weaker team than Tech has had for many years and the Jackets are particularly anxious to knock the foundation from this theory by taking the W. and L. soldiers into camp Saturday.

The Generals' attack as portrayed by the Black Devils seems to consist mostly of sheer drive with a few trick plays interwoven when needed. Against Princeton, the Generals proved their ability at defense and in the Kentucky game last Saturday they also demonstrated that they can drive through that line when necessary. It is not to be concluded that Kentucky has a weak team. They have not, but the Generals outdressed them and it behooves Tech to polish up the defense.

W. and L. has a deadly passing attack when it is needed and Coach Alex is devoting much time to perfecting Tech's defense in this branch where they showed particularly weak against the Crimson Tide.

Offensively, the Tornado clearly demonstrated Wednesday afternoon that they have profited by the break in training following their defeat at the hands of the Tide. They plowed through the "Devi's" with a will Wednesday and with Barron back for Saturday the ground-gaining propensities of the Jackets should be greatly augmented.

There is no question that they looked better on offense Wednesday than they have this year but several of the shifts plays which Bjorkman's boys copied from the school of the Generals went through the defense for good gains more than once. Johnny Marshall, whose head was badly cut in the 'Bama game, was not allowed to enter the scrimmage and Captain Pool ran in signal drill but is not expected to be called upon Saturday. Pund ran scrimmage with the first team.

There was much hope in the way the varsity succeeded in breaking up the passes shot by the "Devi's." This has always been a weakness with the Tornado and their defense in this branch Wednesday was much better than usual. It is problematical how they will perform in this line against the Generals, however, because the Devil line was not as strong as that of the Generals and the reserve passer was being rushed by the varsity line most of the time.

According to his present plan Coach Alex will vary somewhat from his usual procedure and subject the varsity to scrimmage again today. This may or may not indicate that Coach Alex is not satisfied with the scrimmage of Wednesday. At any rate he is probably making a wise move.

These Queer Commissioners.

Boxing commissions are funny things anyway you figure it. Recently some members of the famous Gotham cauliflower senate made themselves a select group of dupes by denying a license to Gene Tunney and now they have passed a rule which is as foolish as it is ineffective.

Harry Wills, the huge stevedore who made a questionable name for himself while he was allowed to combine wrestling and boxing, was thrown from the ring by Referee Patsy Haley the other night after he had repeatedly fouled Sharkey and now what does the Big Negro get as a penalty?

He is treated very harshly under the new ruling by the commission and will be suspended from fighting in New York for 30 days. And that is all. He is allowed his share of the purse, which is the big thing with him and he did not want to fight again for 30 days anyway. As a matter of fact the ancient Wills could not get ready for another wrestling match in that length of time or longer.

A man with a record like that of Wills should be definitely suspended from now on. Not because he is colored nor for any other reason except that he is a disgrace to the game.

EAST LEADING HORSE SHOW INTERSECTION TO BE STAGED GRID STANDING AT M'PHERSON

New York, October 20.—(AP.)—The battle for intersectional football honors after two Saturdays of stirring strife, experiences a lull this week while rivalries built upon tradition hold the center of the gridiron. It is only the calm before the storm, however, for the intersectional tussle breaks out afresh on October 30 all along the line with the main sectors witnessing such contests as Notre Dame-Georgia Tech, Navy-Michigan, Illinois-Pennsylvania, Yale-Maryland and West Virginia-Missouri.

So far, the representatives of the east, which led the intersectional struggle last season, have jumped into a substantial lead in the race for 1928 honors of this sort. Meeting foes from the middle west and south, the east's warriors have romped off with 13 victories and sustained only three defeats.

These three setbacks, however, all have been administered by the middle west. They include smashing victories by Notre Dame over Annapolis, Duke university comes to New York to play Columbia and the other invasion of the middle west by Boston college to oppose St. Louis university. The University of Mississippi travels to Des Moines to meet Drake in another intersectional tilt.

Tabulation of the major intersectional games so far shows the following standing:

East. Mid. W. S. W. Won
East ..... 6 7 0 13
Mid-West ..... 1 0 2 4
South ..... 0 2 1 3
Southwest ..... 0 0 0 0
Total ..... 7 9 3 20
Ties—South and mid-west, south and east, southwest and mid-west, one each.

Cadeis Prominent.

The cadets of West Point, as well as the midshipmen of Annapolis, have figured prominently in eastern conquests. Army registered triumphs over Detroit and David-Elkins.

The south has been particularly hard hit by eastern foes, losing seven engagements and gaining consolation only from the tie between Washington and Lee and Princeton. New York university's decisive defeat of Tulane, co-champion of the south with Alabama last year, was a hard blow.

Chicago has figured in three intersectional battles, beating Florida and Maryland, but being smothered by Pennsylvania. The Missouri Tigers have experienced two ties, one with Tulane and the other with Southern Methodist.

East Favored Again.

This Saturday the east will be favored to add to its score in two engagements, one in the Duke university comes to New York to play Columbia and the other invasion of the middle west by Boston college to oppose St. Louis university.

The team which will face St. Louis is one of the youngest in the history of the college, being composed in the main of freshmen and sophomores. Three of the regular backfield stars were playing for local high schools last year, while Al Weston, fast 105-pound halfback, is the only sophomore behind the line.

Hoff Stays Longer

Los Angeles, October 20.—(AP.) Charles Hoff, Norwegian pole vaulter, has been granted permission to remain in the United States until June 1, next year, his manager, Harry Brandon, announced today.

Hoff recently was advised by immigration authorities that his time in this country was up and that he would have to leave.

FOUR JUNIOR HIGH TEAMS MEET TODAY

Four Junior High school football teams will see action this afternoon on the local gridirons in the opening of their 1928 season.

William A. Bass will face the strong Joe Brown team in a struggle on Spiller's field at 3 o'clock.

Hoke Smith will play the fine team of the O'Keefe school on the O'Keefe field, at the corner of Sixth and Fowler streets, at the same hour.

The best game of the afternoon will be played on Spiller's field. Last season Joe Brown and the William A. Bass teams played a 6-to-6 game. The teams this year are evenly matched and they are out for blood.

Joe Brown was hard hit this season by having some of its best players ruled off on account of their age, but they have enough reserves to stem the tide of any of the teams that they will meet.

Bass has a team that will compare favorably with their opponents. They have a very fine attack, in which deception plays a great hand.

Lineups of the Bass-Brown game.

Aggies Confident Of L.S.U. Victory

Starkville, Miss., October 20.—A special train, bearing perhaps a thousand Maroon supporters, will run from Starkville to Jackson for the Mississippi A. & M. college football battle with Louisiana State next Saturday.

W. D. Chadwick, athletic director, announced tonight. The celebrated Aggies band will be among the rosters.

Without these three, the starting line-up would be Applewhite and Windham, ends; Sallum and Davis, tackles; Prince and V. Smith, guards; Enoch center; Walker, quarterback; Collier and Biles, halfbacks, and Cohen, fullback.

The teams are rated about even and a battle is expected when the two meet. Drake has been rendered desperate by three straight defeats, while

Murphy Signs To Meet Moore in Match Here

Frankie Murphy has been signed to meet K. O. Moore, Fort McPherson scrapper, who recently moved up into the middleweight division, in the 10-round semi-final of the boxing show at the city auditorium Tuesday night. Matchmaker Gossett announced Wednesday. Jack Renault and Jack Congdon, heavyweight headliners, will feature the card.

Matchmaker Gossett Wednesday night stated that he had changed his original plan to have 30 rounds of boxing and a battle royal, and instead will stage a 34-round show, supplanting the battle royal with a four-round bout between two good boys to be selected at a later date.

In matching Moore with Murphy in the semi-final Gossett declared that he was selecting the best man available. Moore has engaged in a number of battles and has proven himself a capable fighter, according to Gossett.

Experts Great Battle. Murphy, who has seen Jack Congdon in action at Portland, Ore., waxed enthusiastic over the outlook for the coming battle. He thinks Congdon is one of the best heavies from the west in many years, and declares the Renault-Congdon match to hold possibilities of being the best fight that Atlanta fans have had opportunity to witness in many seasons.

Congdon, according to Frankie, made his mark on the coast by taking the northwest heavy weight title away from Nig Yeager in a battle that drew one of the biggest houses that Portland ever knew.

Congdon is also from Canada, which, of course, makes the headline Tuesday night an all-Canadian affair, since Renault is the heavyweight champion of Canada. It is the first time, Gossett declared, that a promoter has gone to such far-away corners to bring good fighters to Atlanta. Renault is coming from New York and Congdon from Portland, Ore.

Murphy believes that Renault will be given the surprise of his ring career when he meets Congdon. On the face of things, Frankie says, Congdon looks like a set-up, but if the Canadian king believes this he is in for a mighty upset.

Herdis McCrary, who spent only a short time in last Saturday's tilt with Furman, seems out of the running this week, and Kels Bolland, another fullback, is in anything but the best of condition. This leaves "Shaks" Rain and Frank Dudley to wage battle from this point. Otherwise, the Bulldogs might be considered in very good condition.

This afternoon the Bulldogs' mentors devoted time in an offensive drill against the Freshmen, and tested defensive strength against the reserves, using Vandy plays. Blackshear, Smith and Forbes alternated at center; Left and Gene Smith were at guard; Groves and Brant, tackles, with Edie Morris and "Red" Smith at the ends. Note the Smiths' place. The backfield reads: Hollis, quarter; Sherlock and Estes, halves, and Cox, fullback. The scrimmage was lengthy and strenuous.

The personnel of the squad making the Nashville invasion was not known tonight, though the mark will reach around 33, it is expected.

Mississippi has lately defeated three strong eleven.

The "Ole Miss" squad which went upon the intersectional invasion included Applewhite, Davis, V. Smith, Burke, Prince, Sallum, Windham, Walker, T. Smith, Batton, Cohen, Biles, Middlebrook, Collier, Tilly, Vann, Williamson, Laird, Hemphill, Enoch, Panna and Petty.

University, Miss., October 20.—(AP.)—Coach Homer Hazel departed from the University of Mississippi campus here today with 22 football players to meet Drake university at Des Moines, Ia., on Saturday. The three men who stood out in the Loyola game last Saturday, Burke, Batton and T. Smith, although injured were carried on the trip in hopes that they might be in condition to answer the starting whistle.

Without these three, the starting line-up would be Applewhite and Windham, ends; Sallum and Davis, tackles; Prince and V. Smith, guards; Enoch center; Walker, quarterback; Collier and Biles, halfbacks, and Cohen, fullback.

The teams are rated about even and a battle is expected when the two meet. Drake has been rendered desperate by three straight defeats, while

Birds Will Arrive In Russellville Today; Play Friday

Coach Robertson Takes 22 Men On Long Trip—Cousins is Only Petrel on Casualty List—Workout Staged Before Departure.

BY ALTON REDFEARN.

WENTY-TWO Stormy Petrels and their coaches, Harry Robertson and Marvin Nix, and Manager Daniel Boone, boarded a train Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock for Russellville, Arkansas, where they will encounter the Arkansas Poly team Friday.

The Petrels are in the dark concerning the style of play the Arkansas boys will display Friday, for they have not been scouted and nothing is known about them except that they have won practically all their games—and that is enough. Any team that can win games usually has a good team, and the birds are expecting a hard battle when they take on the "dark horses."

Wednesday afternoon the Petrels enjoyed a short but very important workout on Hemanee field, getting under way at 2 o'clock and lasting until a few minutes after 3. A scrimmage between the varsity and the rats took place. The primary object of Coach Robertson in this scrimmage was to see how the new plays were functioning. Some of the time they were executed perfectly while at times they went bad. It is expected that by Friday the Petrels will master them well enough to give the Arkansas team trouble.

Most of the injured have recovered and will be in good physical trim by Friday. The lone member of the casualty list is I. W. Cousins, varsity right guard, and in all probability his condition by Friday will not warrant sending him. Outside of Cousins though the Petrels are O. K. and "ready to go."

The probable line-up is as follows: Hardin and Carroll, ends; Perkins and Goldsmith, tackles; Guthrie and Sims, guards; Hutson, center. The backfield will be: Campbell, at quarterback; Bell and Garlington, half-backs; and Vaughn, fullback.

The men who made the trip to Russellville are as follows: Campbell, Carroll, Sims, Goldsmith, Guthrie, Cousins, MacLaughlin, Hardin, Bell, Vaughn, Garlington, Chestnut, Hancock, Perkins, Andrews, Maulsby, Gordy, Hutson, Bass, Shepherd, Talfer and White.

Blu-Streak and Hyvis in Decatur

You are never very far away from a Reed Oil station. Twenty-two of these perfectly equipped filling depots manned by courteous, smiling employees are spread throughout the city and its suburbs. Every well-traveled road will sooner or later carry you to one of the widespread Reed chain.

In Decatur the Reed Oil company has one of its most beautiful and most spacious homes. It is located on the square, and in addition to serving the residents of Decatur and Avondale, it is the most popular stopping place for the legion of motorists who turn their cars toward Stone Mountain each week to see the progress being made in the memorial.

The Decatur plant of the Reed Oil company has five visible pumps to insure the most rapid handling of business. A drain pit for the proper lubrication of crank cases, rear ends and springs is also available. (Incidentally the Reed Oil company is responsible for the introduction of the visible pump which enables motorists to see that full measure is delivered at all times and the drain pit in Atlanta, having installed the first of each ever used in this city.)

Equally outstanding is the quality of the products sold in the Reed stations. Blu-Streak gasoline, a more powerful and richer gasoline than ever been introduced here, was originally intended to sell for considerably above ordinary gasoline prices. The Reed Oil company, however, through fortunate purchases and economical manufacture plus the tremendous sales volume that was quickly built up on the gasoline, was enabled to market it at the same price as ordinary gasoline. The extra miles cost the purchaser nothing. Hyvis motor oil, the outstanding lubricant sold by the Reed Oil company stations, is another product of exceptional merit. It is 100 per cent pure Pennsylvania oil that consistently delivers the most perfect type of lubrication for 1,000 miles. The products, plus the high type of courteous service rendered by Reed Oil station managers, explains the popularity of this chain of filling stations.

The Decatur station, like all other Reed Oil stations, is open from 6 in the morning until 11:30 at night, and throughout these hours you will see a never-ending stream of cars drawing up to the Blu-Streak pumps and being filled with Hyvis motor oil. (adv.)

TENNIS TOUR PAYS HEAVILY, PYLE FIGURES

New York, October 20.—(AP)—Does professional pay?

C. C. Pyle, its pioneer promoter, figure out pad and pencil today to figure out so far it has.

In six engagements, Pyle revealed, the professional troupe headed by Suzanne Lenglen and Vincent Richards has played before 41,000 spectators who have paid $83,400 to see the international stars twinkle.

Approximately half of these totals was compiled in the opening two appearances of the players at Madison Square garden, October 2 and 3, but Pyle declared he was also gratified by the results of engagements in Boston, Toronto, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

If the average thus far in attendance and receipts is maintained for the remainder of the transcontinental tour, the promoter figures his gross receipts will be between $700,000 and $800,000.

Mr. Lenglen, as the leading attraction, is estimated to have been guaranteed $75,000 in addition to a substantial percentage. Richards, Mary K. Browne, Paul Feret, Harvey Snodgrass and Howard Kinsey are others on the payroll.

Son of John Wins Thrilling Race

New York, October 20.—(AP)—Son of John raced neck and neck with Big Blaze through the mile $2,000 grade "A" handicap at Laurel today and by hard driving managed to get his nose in front at the finish, Joy Smoke was third. The time was 1:40 2-5. King Naid, usually a superior miler, finished last in the four-horse field.

An imported colt, Corposant, whipped Black Bart in the West Point handicap at Empire. In the final race the lead at the final sixteenth post but could not stave off the brilliant finish of Corposant, which had lain behind the pace throughout. Salta saved the third money. Corposant covered the route in 1:49.

Dr. Brodie Speaks On Golden Rule Sunday Program

Dr. A. M. Brodie, of the Near East relief national organization, who has been in the city for the past several days, will speak twice today on relief problems confronted in Armenia and adjacent countries.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning Dr. Brodie will speak to faculty members and students of the Marietta High school. He will be introduced by J. L. Fleming, and will give students some idea of the training and work of orphans in the Near East who have been rescued and placed in schools.

Atlantans To Draw Plans for School At Fort Valley

Fort Valley, Ga., October 20.—(AP) Lockwood and Poundstone, architects of Atlanta, have been awarded the contract to draw plans for Fort Valley's new public school, to cost $180,000. The contract was awarded at a special meeting of the board of education.

The new school will be located in West End. It is to be ready for use next spring.

Hog Gives Birth To Unusual Number Of Pigs in Year

Calhoun, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—An interesting incident is being created here in livestock circles by a sow owned by M. L. Allen, which has given birth to 34 pigs within a period of 12 months. Five were born in September, 1925, 15 in March and 14 recently.

The hog is a Duroc-O. I. C. breed.

Daviscourt-Browning Are To Settle Grudge

That the feature match of next Wednesday's wrestling events in the auditorium is one worthy of the price admission is rather clearly demonstrated by the tone of messages received by Promoter Contos from both Dick Daviscourt, the Californian, and Jim Browning, the Kansan, who will attempt to pin each other in the two-hour final bout.

"Glad you closed Atlanta with Browning. Am sure Atlanta fans will see greatest match ever staged. Will arrive two days in advance to get plenty of rest," was the telegram received by Contos from Daviscourt Wednesday. The latter is in St. Louis.

"I can lick Daviscourt, and will prove it Wednesday night," was the message from Browning, which all has not been well between the two Behemoths since some weeks ago when the two of them clashed in a boxing match at Nashville, Tenn., by way of showing their versatility, and in five rounds there were 17 knockdowns. Daviscourt finally swinging a hammer that crushed Browning to the canvas, tearing asunder a number of teeth.

"They are bitter rivals," said Contos Wednesday, "and it was with the idea of presenting a real grudge battle that I booked them for my star bout on the 27th. I think this will be the real battle of the century."

John was not one whit less enthusiastic.

RICKARDSEIMINATION CONTEST SET FOR FRIDAY

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, October 20.—In a laudable attempt to eliminate certain heavyweight prize fighters and return them to useful toil while they are still capable of handling the bale hook and the spade, Mr. Tex Rickard will entertain several members of the new class at the garden, Friday night. Although Mr. Rickard had recently yielded to the softening emotion that otherwise rational gentlemen respond to such names as Daddykins and is now on his honeymoon with no immediate thought of prize fighting, these fights will be on his head because his organization is promoting them.

In one of the bouts the customers will be given a chance to decide whether Monte Munn should use his club to block punches or to discourse oratory, he being a member of the Nebraska legislature.

The gentleman from Nebraska forsook statesmanship a few months ago to become a prize fighter but thus far he has not engaged in any fights that would demonstrate whether statesmanship or pugilism was the loser by the change.

Somebody Liked Somebody.

Mr. Munn will fight a golden oak negro by the name of Carl Carter, generally regarded as a fugitive from some $60,000 debt. The negro, who once beat a fellow named Bud Gorman. It does not matter who Bud Gorman is, beyond the fact that he is the fellow that Carl Carter liked. It is enough to know that Monte Munn at last will fight somebody who has liked somebody.

In another bout Jim Maloney of Boston intends to fight Arturo DeKah who has been receiving the devotion of a certain element of local Italians for several months under false pretenses, his right name being Mendel Kulakewitch and his habit Austria, not Italy.

This Maloney is the fellow that Jack Kearns was supposed to have spotted as the successor to Jack Dempsey long before he and Dempsey began boxing solos on their police whistles for the ropes to come and house one another. Maloney used to bear a rather life-like resemblance to a prize-fighter but a ring worm carpet-bagger by the name of Solomon, known to the trade as King Solomon, happened into Boston where Maloney lives and discovered that Maloney led with his chin. Twice Maloney was knocked out by Solomon in a row where John L. Sullivan tradition is still alive and the Galwegian and Corkonian sensibilities of the customers were so injured by the spectacle that they found Maloney a job as a night watchman on the docks. It was thought that any one so incurably drowsy as this Maloney was intended by nature for the job, but he resigned recently and he now states that he has ceased to lead with his kisser, or chin.

Tattooed Swede.
Later on the winner of one of these fights will meet Harry Persson, the Swedish masterpiece, who is tattooed so profusely that there is a movement on foot to buy him and present him to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

There is no reason why Persson shouldn't be shoed into the ring along with the others Friday night, except the fact that Mr. Rickard does not believe in eliminating too many of the boys at once. He will save Persson and several others for another elimination party a few weeks hence and he may be able to produce a fight involving the last two survivors with the idea of offering a winner to Gene Tunney for his refined attention.

Outdoor Advertisers Elect Officers at Meeting Today

Election of officers of the Outdoor Advertising association of America will feature today's session of the 39th annual convention at the Biltmore hotel.

Present officers include Harry F. O'Melia, president, and Keewin H. Fulton, of New York, as chairman of the board. Other business of today's meeting will consist of a general session on sales and merchandising of outdoor advertising at 10 o'clock this morning, and a program of addresses at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. George Ripley, Jr., is to speak this afternoon. Musical features will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the ballroom of the Biltmore by the Griffith school of music. Members of the association at noon will have luncheon with the Atlanta Real Estate board at the Henry Gray hotel, where George W. Kleiser, of San Francisco, will speak on "Beautifying Your City," and with the junior chamber of commerce, where Clarence R. Lovell, will speak on "Outdoor Advertising."

The convention proper will come to a close Friday afternoon with a "Painted Display" session, and a tea at the Atlanta Woman's club at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

An evening of entertainment, a barbecue at the East Lake Country club climaxed Wednesday's program. During the afternoon the advertising men discussed the five-year program.

UPSON COUNTY FAIR ISSUES PREMIUM LIST
Thomaston, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—The premium list for the Upson county fair to be held here November 10-12 has been published, which includes about $2,500 in cash prizes. Several community displays will be featured in the fair.

Farm Demonstrator H. E. Woodruff is bending every effort to make the fair the best the county has held, and as this year has been better from a farming point, it is likely a good fair will be held. The cotton crop is turning out a great deal better than was first thought, and the farmers are handling considerable cash.

G. I. A. A. CARD IS FEATURED BY AGGIE TILT

Gainesville, Ga., October 20.—(Special.)—The Riverside Cadets went through their final workout today, preparing for "Red" Barron's Monroe Aggies. The two squads clash on the local gridiron here tomorrow, the biggest game in the G. I. A. A. football loop this season.

The Cadets worked in fine fashion and were reported in excellent condition for the battle with the Aggies. Only a light workout was indulged in this afternoon, polishing off for the clash.

The Aggies also held their final practice session this afternoon, and are ready for the flying Cadets tomorrow. Coach Barron has been driving his charges through long, hard workouts this week preparing them for the battle.

The Aggies have a strong team this season, having romped over opponents in a promising manner, and bid fair to cop the 1926 G. I. A. A. grid title. Jones, star backfield man, promises to give the Cadets all they can handle during the game tomorrow.

Interest around here is running high and a large crowd of spectators is expected to attend the game. The Atlanta Rotary club is meeting with the Gainesville Rotary club, and the members of the clubs will attend the game. The Atlantans will root for the Aggies, while the local club members will root for the Cadets.

Hiker Finishes Tramp; Furman Celebrates

Greenville, S. C., October 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Foot-sore and weary but with a broad smile on his face, Norwood Cleveland completed the last lap of his journey this afternoon, touching the goal post at Manly field after nearly four days of hiking from Athens, Ga. The hike began Sunday morning in celebration of Furman's football victory over Georgia last Saturday, the hiker having voluntarily made the statement that he would walk back to Greenville if Furman were victorious.

The hiker's step was springing as he came into sight of Greenville and it did not slacken as he made the last few yards of the journey. His feet, however, mutely told of the many miles of pavement, gravel and top soil covered roads between here and Athens. Wearing tennis shoes, Mr. Cleveland was using the outer rims of his feet, the bottoms having been covered with blisters after only a short distance had been covered. This condition prevailed throughout the hike and added to the inconvenience of the hiker.

"It's nothing serious," Cleveland told friends as he touched the goal post at Manly field and a few seconds later stooped to rub his feet. The hiker started from Athens with his feet encased in a pair of army trench shoes, but these soon caused so many blisters that he was forced to discard them and to substitute a pair of tennis shoes, made of light canvas.

Local Battle Will Feature Friday's Prep Program

Boys' High To Meet G. M. A. Cadets Friday In Prep Headliner

Marist Plays at Rome—Tech Hi in Montgomery—Brilliant Battle is Expected When Two Local Teams Clash at Spiller's Field.

BY BEN COTHMAN.
A PAIR of Atlanta's leading prep teams will clash at Spiller's field Friday afternoon when the Purple of Boys' High meets the Red of G. M. A. The game is the first inter-prep game of the season and is attracting quite a bit of interest.

University, crippled by the loss of its star, Hunsinger, will do battle with Louisville High, in Louisville, Ky., Saturday. The Smithies will play on Saturday in Montgomery, with Sidney Lanier High furnishing the opposition.

Marist travels to Rome for a game with Darlington school that is certain to be close. In the other local game, Decatur plays Gainesville High on the Decatur campus.

Both Boys' High and G. M. A. have been working hard for Friday's game, and it will be a fight to the finish. Last year the Cadets triumphed over the Purple, but old man dope seems to give last season's losers the edge this year. The main reason for this is the Boys' High line, every man from end to end having earned his letter in football last season. The work of this forward wall has been outstanding in the Purple's three wins out of as many starts.

Cadets Not Idle.
The Cadets have not been idle by any means, and Coach Morrow will put a team on the field Friday that will give Boys' High a lot to worry over. The Cadets have a passing attack that will compare favorably with that of the Crimson, and Shorty Doyle's pupils will have to break up the passing combination of Mott to Campbell. The Cadet line, though playing together this year for the first time, is strong. Fans will see a struggle that is well worth seeing.

Fourier (Army), referee; Thompson (Georgia), umpire; Langford (Wofford), head linesman; Woodruff (Alabama), field judge.

The University team was given a distinct setback Wednesday when it was learned that John Hunsinger, backfield ace, would not be able to play Saturday. Hunsinger's shoulder was injured last Saturday and the doctor has forbidden him to play in the Louisville game.

Pup Phillips is working his team hard for the Louisville game, but with Hunsinger out, the chances of winning have become very small. None of the other players have been injured and Phillips is grooming another backfield man to take the place of Hunsinger. The team will train for Louisville Friday morning.

Teachers Face Lanier.
Tech High will face a formidable foe in Montgomery Saturday, but if the big gold team plays like it did against Siele High last Friday, it will turn in another win. Henry Hammond, who sat on the bench last week, will be in the fray this week, and the Smithie backfield, with Hammond, Waugh, Oliphant and Beane, had hitting fullback, will be hard to stop.

Lanier has a bunch of backfield men, who have demonstrated their ability to carry the ball quite well this season, and it will be a merry battle in Montgomery.

Decatur will play Gainesville for the fourth time in as many years, and the suburban team has yet to turn a victory over the north Georgia aggregation. Decatur has suffered only one defeat this year, that being given them by Boys' High, and with the plunging of Morris and the long runs of Cook, chances are bright for the local eleven to win.

Marist has been pointing for the Darlington game throughout the season, and Joe Bean's boys face a severe test in Rome tomorrow afternoon. Darlington was turned back in defeat last year, but the Romans have a strong, veteran line that has been giving a good account of itself all the season. On the other hand, Marist has two good backs, who will be very troublesome in tomorrow's game. If Marist wins, it will be by a small margin.

Coach Connell, and every effort will be made to bring the strong Jesup team here for that date. Jesup has defeated Sparks college, Blackshear High and other representative south Georgia teams.

Piedmont presented a surprise when the Hilltoppers held the Statesboro Aggies to a scoreless tie here. One week later the Aggies took a hard game from Benedictine college, Savannah.

Coach Connell expressed the hope today that the Jesup team, which has made several claims already for a section championship, will accept the challenge for the game in Waycross.

This is the only open date on the Piedmont schedule, according to

ORMISTON VISITS TO AIMEE DENIED

Los Angeles, October 20.—(P)—Aimee Semple McPherson sought, through a witness in her conspiracy hearing here today, to dispel opposition cast at her name by the prosecution in connection with alleged visits of her former radio operator, Kenneth G. Ormiston, to the evangelist's room in the exclusive Ambassador hotel here.

Miss Florence Underwood, a nurse who attended a patient at the Ambassador last fall, during the times the evangelist occupied room 330, testified she had never seen a man enter Mrs. McPherson's room. Miss Underwood stated she had known the evangelist "very intimately" for six years and that she visited frequently with her across the corridor at the hotel.

She said a man about five feet nine inches tall and of slight build had been employed to wheel Miss Underwood's patient in and out of room 329, across from room 330, and in pursuance of this task had appeared near the evangelist's room about five times each day.

Identifies Picture.
The state placed an Ambassador hotel chambermaid on the stand during presentation of the prosecution's case who identified a picture of Ormiston as a man who had visited Mrs. McPherson in her room.

Prior to the reintegration of the Ambassador hotel into the hearing, C. E. Cross, of Douglas, Ariz., who took the stand yesterday as first witness for the defense, went through a grilling at the hands of Deputy District Attorney E. J. Deussen.

The man who had qualified himself as a desert expert, familiar with the country which Mrs. McPherson had said she crossed in her flight from the state, was asked to identify a picture of Ormiston as a man who had visited Mrs. McPherson in her room.

Different Colored Hair Grown On Animals by Beta Ray

Philadelphia, October 20.—(P)—A new cathode ray tube, which has removed hair from an animal and seemingly grew hair of a different color on the same spot, which has made cold stone luminous as if heated and produced surprising results on gas, was officially announced here tonight by Dr. W. D. Coolidge, its inventor. He is assistant director of the research laboratory of the General Electric company. His announcement was made before the Franklin institute, which presented him with the Howard N. Pott medal.

Partial announcement of Dr. Coolidge's discovery was made yesterday at Chicago by Dr. A. F. Tyler before a meeting of the American College of Physical Therapy.

Dr. Coolidge said he has not tried tube's rays on humans, nor yet found practical application for them. The tube apparently opens limitless fields for electrical experiment and research.

Demonstration Given.
An Associated Press representative witnessed a special demonstration of the rays in a darkened room some time tonight's announcement. Dr. Coolidge said the tube produces as many beta rays, the most important rays of radium, as could be obtained from a ton of that material. The world's supply of radium, however, does not exceed one pound, and at current prices a ton of the wonder element would cost more than one hundred million dollars.

The inventor has succeeded in passing the cathode rays, or electrons, from inside the vacuum tube, where they are set in motion, through a "window" composed of nickel foil, so that they are active outside the tube.

In the darkened room, and with a current of 350,000 volts applied to the tube, the rays were visible as a purple glow in front of the "window," extending a foot or more from the end of the tube. While the rays were visible, the odor of ozone was noticeable.

A crystal of calcite, Iceland spar, was placed in front of the "window." As the rays were played upon it, it "glowed" as though "red hot."

When the rays were shut off, the calcite continued to glow. Passed from hand to hand of the witnesses, this specimen looked like something that would melt the flesh at the slightest touch, but was in fact stone cold. Its luminosity continued for several hours.

A lump of dolomite, one of the purest forms of marble, was similarly affected, except that the glow of the rayed dolomite was pinkish while the calcite was orange. Each exposure to the rays lasted only a few seconds.

Granite subjected to the cathode ray became iridescently luminous, green, blue and yellow glowing like clusters of gems, but the luminosity ceased when the rays were turned off.

One of the most mystifying effects "resulted" from subjecting acetene gas to the ray, and immediately there was produced in the tube several grams of a yellowish-brown powder which has no known chemical solvent. Whether a new element has thus been produced is not yet known.

Under the influence of the cathode ray, cesar oil solidified. At room temperature, cadmium tungstate spread as point upon cardboards, was highly luminous under the ray, but was non-luminous with the shutting off of the ray. After being soaked in liquor air for a half a minute, the luminosity continued for some little time after the turning off of the ray, but disappeared when the card had again been cooled.

The rays kill insects and bacteria quickly, but as yet Dr. Coolidge has not tried them upon human flesh. An application of the rays for one-tenth of a second to the ear of a rabbit caused a scab to form which sloughed off some days later, leaving a bald spot.

After a second application of the ray, the rabbit's ear which the brown hair had fallen out, and the new growth was three times as luxuriant as the old.

Effect On Bacteria.
The effect of the rays on bacteria led to the belief that they might be valuable in killing microbes in milk, thus substituting a newer and quicker method than the process of pasteurization. But it was found that milk subjected to the rays became unpalatable and ill smelling.

Dr. Coolidge said that because the field of the rays is only about two feet from the tube, under the exceedingly high voltage of 350,000, the rays can not be used as a death dealing instrument of warfare.

Whether they may be of benefit for cancer and cancer diseases remains to be determined.

Dr. Coolidge has been working on the cathode ray tube for about a year and a half. The tube is of glass about four feet long, with the center expanded in spherical form. The cathode, or negative electric terminal is heated by a spiral filament through which a current of electricity is passed and the electrons, set in motion by the heat, and impelled by a high voltage current, pass with nearly the speed of light through the nickel "window."

The interior of the tube is as nearly an absolute vacuum as human ingenuity can make it.

Dr. Coolidge, largely responsible for the development of incandescent electric lamps with tungsten filaments is one of the foremost inventors in the field of X-rays.

WRIGHT JAILED IN MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., October 20.—(P)—Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally known architect, who is wanted by police in connection with his marital troubles, was arrested at Wildhurst, Lake Minnetonka, and brought to the county jail tonight. Wright is being held without charge for Barbara, Wis., authorities.

Mr. Wright, the husband of Miriam Noel Wright, from whom he is estranged, was found in the company of Olga Milanoff, a Montenegrin dancer, police said. The dancer is being sought by her former husband.

PARADE GRANTED 10,000 BAPTISTS AT FORT WORTH

Fort Worth, Texas, October 20.—(P)—Mayor H. C. Meacham today granted the First Baptist church permission to parade 10,000, its faithful on Halloween, the night before Pastor J. Frank Norris goes on trial for killing W. E. Chas. a lumber wholesaler, the mayor's friend.

City councilmen yesterday at Meacham's behest disregarded a church application for permit to parade because it was signed only "Board of Directors." In a letter to the directors today Mayor Meacham said he had no objections to the parade if some church official would affix individual signature to the petition.

The church recently announced plans for a downtown procession as a last gigantic testimonial of faith in the fundamentalist preacher, whose trial on a murder charge is set for November 1.

C. M. E. CHURCH PLANS BIG RALLY TONIGHT

Harriet Holsey and Morning Star clubs of the Butler street C. M. E. church have charge tonight of the annual home-coming and autumn rally of the church, which started Monday and will last through Sunday. Special features of the program will be selections by the Morehouse Glee club and the sermon by the Rev. N. T. Thompson.

The Rev. F. F. Broddie and Rev. J. M. Childs will address the business men's night meeting Friday night. Saturday will be observed as church tag day, and at 11 o'clock Sunday morning the Rev. G. L. Word, pastor, will preach on "Signs of the Times."

State P.T. Board Indorses Constitution Amendments

Macon, Ga., October 20.—(P)—Dr. Joe Bowdoin, of the state board of health, addressing the executive committee of the Georgia branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers here today, declared that "from a health standpoint the greatest campaign ever waged in Georgia is the fight against diphtheria."

Six thousand children have been immunized, he said, and the supply of toxin-anti-toxin has become exhausted, he said.

The most important work that the congress can now undertake, he said, is the fight against white plague.

Mrs. Fred Wessels, of Savannah, past president of the Georgia congress and now third vice president, as director of the department of extension, presented an outline of work for her department.

U. S. AGENT TELLS HUGE BOOZE PLOT

Chicago, October 20.—Evidence of a $5,000,000 liquor importing conspiracy was revealed in Chicago today by Pat Roache, chief of the government's intelligence unit for this district.

Cecil Kinder, wealthy New Yorker, and his brother, Clifford, head of the Haines-Kinder Manufacturing company, of Chicago, are under arrest, facing indictments for bringing $5,000,000 worth of choice liquors into the country.

Telegrams seized by government agents reveal purchases, sailing dates, sales and other information, showing that the Kinder brothers had a fleet of five vessels plying the Atlantic from Canada, Luxembourg, and the Bahamas, bringing in liquors, much of which ultimately reached inland cities.

Government reports stated that Clifford Kinder kept a sales manager and twelve salesmen operating in Chicago, with offices in a well known Lake Shore drive building.

A telegram addressed to "Al Brown" turned by the agents as a "noted and frequent offender of the prohibition laws," is said to be none other than the notorious "Scarface Al Capone," head of a large Chicago gang, prominent in recent killing investigations.

Indictments in New York charge the Kinder brothers as being owners of the steamship "Eker," which was seized recently in New York harbor, off Yonkers, and found to contain 20,000 gallons of alcohol in its stern hatch.

Previously to seizure, the Eker had landed 40,000 cases of choice imported liquors at Edgewater, N. J., valued at more than $5,000,000, government agents say.

Amusements

Tudor Theater.

Based on historical facts, "The Last Frontier" now being shown at the Tudor, is probably one of the greatest of all the epic pictures of the winning of the west, and of the last great frontier of America.

The picture is a whirlwind of drama, having thousands of Indians, vast herds of buffalo and thousands of extras; was three years in the making, and as a finished product is real entertainment, a great picture of the historic and romantic days when hardy souls set forward to win a new country.

In the cast of "The Last Frontier" are William Boyd, Marguerite De La Motte and Jack Hoxie.

The Rialto.

A chuckle-headed brawler, a conceited fool, a homo boobus, a cheap knave, an incorrigible jackass, a guffawing bluff, a loud-mouthed prig, a mendacious bluffer, a gaudy liar, a cocky big-talker, a cheap mountebank, a bumptious ass, a Spanish athlete, an obnoxious windbag, a boasting blunderer, a swanking poster, a megalomaniac, a hot-air artist, an egotist, a slogger, blusterer and pretender;

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

FINALLY THE SPANIARDS CAME INTO A LARGE, FERTILE, WELL-CULTIVATED VALLEY, IN THE MIDDLE OF WHICH PLANTATIONS OF BANANAS AND MAIZE, STOOD THE IMPRESSIVE TOWN OF XOCOTLA. THE CHIEF OF THIS TOWN, OLINTZEL, WAS A MAN OF ENORMOUS SIZE AND GIRTH. THE SPANIARDS PROMPTLY NAMED HIM THE "TREMORER" BECAUSE HE SHOOK LIKE A JELLY. CORTES ASKED HIM IF HE WERE A VASSAL OF MONTZUMA AND HE ANSWERED IN SURPRISE: "AND WHO IS NOT A VASSAL OF MONTZUMA'S?" THE IRREPRESSIBLE AND ENTHUSIASTIC CORTES PROMPTLY EXPLAINED THAT A DISTANT SOVEREIGN AND TOLD CORTES THAT MONTZUMA RULED OVER THIRTY GREAT VASSALS, EACH OF WHOM COULD PUT ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND SOLDIERS IN THE FIELD. HE STATED MONTZUMA'S WEALTH WAS INCALCULABLE, THAT HIS CAPITAL CITY, ON AN ISLAND IN THE MIDDLE OF A LAKE, WAS THE MOST BEAUTIFUL OF CITIES, AND WAS UNAPPROACHABLE WITHOUT PERMISSION, FOR BOATS COMMANDED THE LAKE AND COAST WAYS TO THE MAINLAND WERE DEFENDED BY MANY SOLDIERS.

Fernando Cortez

OLINTZEL OFFERED GUIDES ON THE WAY TO MEXICO AS FAR AS THE CITY OF CHOLULA. THE TOLONACAS GAVE CONTRARY ADVICE, ADVISING THAT THE CHOLULAS WERE TREACHEROUS FRIENDS OF MONTZUMA'S AND URGED THAT THE BEST ROAD LAY THROUGH THE REPUBLIC OF TLASCALA, WITH WHOM THE SPANIARDS SHOULD FORM AN ALLIANCE. CORTES ACCEPTED THIS LAST ADVICE AND DESPATCHED FOUR MESSENGERS, ASKING FOR PERMISSION TO PASS THROUGH THIS TERRITORY. WITH THE MESSENGERS HE SENT A NUMBER OF GIFTS.

By DR. ELLIOTT SHORING, NOTED HISTORIAN

TLASCALA WAS AN INDEPENDENT REPUBLIC. THE PEOPLE WERE BRAVE, HARDY, ADVANCED IN MILITARY SCIENCE AND HAD PRESERVED THE INDEPENDENCE OF THEIR MOUNTAIN REPUBLIC AGAINST THE EVER ENCRANCHING MONTZUMA. LATER, WHEN THE SPANIARDS UNDERSTOOD MORE ABOUT THE MEXICAN EMPIRE THEY ASKED MONTZUMA WHY HE DID NOT CRUSH THE TLASCALANS. HE REPLIED: "IF WE DID SO THERE WOULD BE NO PLACE LEFT WHERE OUR YOUNG WARRIORS COULD GET THEIR MILITARY TRAINING WITHOUT GOING A GREAT DISTANCE FROM HERE," WHICH SHOWS THAT MONTZUMA HAD A GOOD IDEA OF THE VALUE OF THE TLASCALANS.

WOMEN ORGANIZE IN AID OF COTTON

Memphis, Tenn., October 20.—(AP)—Memphis and Shelby County Women's club leaders organized here today to promote the use of cotton goods and to spread this doctrine to other women throughout the south.

Mrs. Harry A. Ramsey was chosen president and Mrs. Brinkley Snowden was elected vice president of the movement which calls for the substitution of clothing, bed covers and table cloths made of the white southern staple for such articles of silk and wool and linen.

Mrs. Ramsey and Mrs. Snowden are recognized leaders in Memphis social life and women's activities.

The meeting today, attended by half a hundred representative women, adjourned after announcing a public mass meeting for next Tuesday when plans to spread the cotton goods propaganda to other states and to "every town and hamlet," will be presented.

Expressing the belief that the "cotton goods" movement could be made a relief program, Mrs. Snowden declared that southern women owed this effort to assistance to the southern planter and business man. Speakers insisted that clothing and household equipment made from the southern product could be used without loss of attractiveness or comfort.

Dr. Tait Butler, chairman of the cotton relief program, spoke at today's meeting of women, wishing them success in their efforts.

Rules for Planes Flying Over City

TAYLOR REFUSED TO RETREAT AND AMPUDIA CROSSED THE RIO GRANDE WITH A LARGE BODY OF MEXICAN TROOPS. HOSTILITIES BEGAN ON APRIL 24, 1846, WHEN THIS FORCE AMBUSHED A SMALL SCOUTING PARTY OF AMERICANS, KILLING OR CAPTURING THEM ALL.

Set by Committee

Stunt flying over Atlanta and neighboring cities, low flying and diving at crowds are taboos in the future for planes operating from Candler field, Atlanta's airport, according to rules adopted Wednesday by the air committee of city council. William B. Hartsfield, chairman, presided.

Other rules are that all planes operating must be airworthy, pilots must satisfy the committee that they are capable and efficient before they will be permitted to carry passengers, and planes operating from the field must keep at a "safety high" altitude when flying over the city. No plane shall be left on the field except at the line of parking; no motor will be left running; no pilot is in the ship; the city is not responsible for injury in case of accidents at the field and visiting pilots are required to register their names, types of their planes and names of owners of planes, the rules set out.

A set of the rules will be posted in conspicuous places about the field.

It is Dick's announced intention to bring to the screen his interpretation of the American boy in all his life phases. His "Way Down East" and "Tolable David" have all done honor to that actor. But these successive triumphs, we feel justified in saying, are eclipsed by Dick in his "Classmates" role of Duncan Irving.

Lovely Church Ceremony Unites Miss Wilkins and Mr. Quillian

Dignified beauty characterized the marriage of Miss Phyllis Wilkins and Henry Milton Quillian, Jr., which was solemnized Wednesday evening at the All Saints' Episcopal church at 8 o'clock in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. William Arnold, church organist, rendered a beautiful program of nuptial music prior to the marriage service. The church was effectively and beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, foliage plants and white dahlias. Groups of palms were arranged on the steps leading to the altar and at intervals were graceful floor baskets overflowing with white dahlias. A semi-circle of lighted cathedral candles added to the beauty of the scene which formed a beautiful floral background for the bride party. Pews reserved for the families were marked by large bouquets of white dahlias tied with wide white satin ribbon.

Bridal Party. The bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin." First entered the ushers by twos including Fletcher Quillian, Jr., and Julian DeLaPer-trinned the bouffant skirts, the center of each bow adorned by small buckles of French flowers. The matron of honor's gown was distinguished from the others by rhinestone buckles. They wore silver slippers and carried bouquets of shaded pink and white dahlias, roses and swainsons.

Beautiful Bride.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of lustrous bridal satin which enhanced her radiant beauty. Her gown was fashioned with a round neck line, the yoke being of rose point lace which extended lower in the back than the front. The circular skirt was fashioned over flounces of real lace, the skirt being slightly shorter in the front than in the back. The train was of satin with an inserted panel of real lace extending the entire length. The bridal veil fell in graceful folds and was becomingly arranged over her hair with a bandeau of rose point lace and orange blossoms. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies. The handkerchief that she carried was of Brussels lace and is a valued heirloom in the bride's family. The only jewelry worn was a brooch and bracelet of diamonds, pearls and turquoise given to her by her mother. These jewels had been made especially for her mother and given her at the time of her marriage.

Mrs. Charlotte D. Wilkins, the bride's mother, wore a handsome gown of chintilly lace veiling black satin. Her corsage bouquet was of roses and valley lilies.

Wedding Reception.

Following the ceremony Mrs. Wilkins entertained members of the bridal party, out-of-town guests and relatives at a reception at her home on Ninth street.

The reception rooms were elaborately decorated with vari-colored flowers, rose, orchid and blue shades predominating.

The bride's gifts to her maids were pretty mosaic picture frames imported from Italy. The groom's gifts to the groomsmen and ushers were silver monogrammed key cases.

Following the reception Mr. Quillian and his bride left for a wedding trip to Asheville, N. C. Mrs. Quillian travelled in a smart costume of brown cloth with coat and hat to match. Among the out-of-town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wilkins, Miss Mary Wilkins and Miss Harriett Wilkins, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. ## Adopt This Rule if a naturally lovely complexion is your wish

By NORMA TALMADGE

Leading skin specialists of the world urge it—it has given naturally clear complexions to more women than any other method known

GAINING the charm of natural skin clearness is not difficult; nor does it depend on costly beauty methods.

Simple, natural ways now are given first place by authorities. Use powder and beauty culture has largely discarded the artificial ways of yesterday.

The following rule is being widely urged by experts. It is credited with bringing more women beautiful complexions than any other method known—just keeping the pores clean and the skin healthy, with the gentle olive and palm lather of Palmolive, used this way:

DO THIS—NOTE HOW YOUR SKIN IMPROVES

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely—naturally colorful and clear. Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.

BE SURE YOU GET THE REAL PALMOLIVE

It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Note what one week of its use brings you. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

Association of Junior Leagues Opens Headquarters in N. Y.

The formal opening of the headquarters of the National Association of Junior Leagues of America, took place Wednesday, October 13, at the new quarters, 130 East Sixty-first street, New York, N. Y. The headquarters which are for the use of every member of every league consists of two well equipped club rooms and an adjoining office.

It is hoped to later enlarge the facilities to include two floors of bedrooms and a restaurant.

The National Association of Junior Leagues is composed of ninety-two individual leagues in as many cities, with a membership of 14,000, and was formed in 1921. Its new home is only a few doors from the New York Junior league, at 133 East Sixty-first street, which was formed twenty-five years ago by eight New York debutantes of that day, who elected Mary Harriman, now Mrs. Chase, as president. When the larger body was organized five years ago Mrs. Willard Straight, now Mrs. Leonard Knight Elmendorf, was chosen president. Mrs. Elmendorf formerly Miss Dorothy Whitney, is a daughter of the late William C. Whitney.

Leagues Represented.

Chapters from many parts of the country were represented at the opening. There were representatives from Los Angeles, Dayton, Tulsa, Fairmont, W. Va.; Birmingham, Ala.; Denver, Waterbury, Boston, St. Louis, San Antonio, Springfield, Mass., Greenwich, Stamford and Bridgeport, Conn., and Albany.

In the club rooms, tea can be served by any who wish it, and once a month there is a special tea with some league serving as hostess. Montclair has offered to be hostess for November, Detroit for December, and Hartford for January. These leagues will provide some special feature of interest for their guests.

Art Exhibition.

A feature of the opening was an exhibit of art by Americans, including Robert Henschel, Rockwell Kent, George Bellows, John Sloan and John Marin. It was arranged by Mrs. Helen Appleton Read, art critic of "The Brooklyn Eagle."

"For the first time in its history the national association is now able to extend an invitation to its membership at large," said Mrs. Carleton H. Palmer, the national president, yesterday. For the past five years the national association was the guests of the New York Junior league.

Among those present at the opening were Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Leonard Knight Elmendorf, Mrs. Mary L. Dickman, Mrs. Roger Spry, Mrs. Charles Lindley, Miss Emily T. Anderson, Miss Ethel Skinner, Mrs. Walter Bartlett, Mrs. J. Lewis Underwood and Mrs. The Zepman.

Birmingham League.

The activities of every Junior league are of much consequence, but members of the Atlanta Junior league will be particularly interested in the activities of leagues in their sister states. October 20, in Birmingham the Junior league had its "Special Edition," which could be purchased from some one of the Junior league girls, who were stationed at the downtown corners in place of the regular little newshy, who were enjoying a much-needed holiday on full pay.

The public at large had the opportunity of aiding in a small way the work of the Junior league, which is a vital one to civic and state activities. The advertisers of Birmingham responded splendidly by buying space in this "Special Edition."

Mrs. Noland, Chairman.

Mrs. Powell Noland, who has always been a very active member of the league and of the old Volunteer Relief, which was the forerunner of the present league, was chairman of the street sales. All of the money that was taken in on the street sales will go to the Junior league.

Mrs. Noland had associated with her the following charming group of young women: Mesdames Alfred Shook, William Rogers, Walter Kennedy, Charles Webb, T. A. Murphy, Rhodes Boykin, Frank Spain, Lewis Underwood, Henry Perry, Bryson Aird, Jennings Gillen, Stewart Welch, Susie Green Bradley, William Houseal, Raymond Jones, Frank Barker, Jack Parker, A. W. Dupuy, Richard Brown, Harold Brown, J. D. Moore, Jr., Mildred Rodham Wells, Misses Anna Meade, Letitia McNeil, Olivia Robinson, Vaneel Oden, Laurie Oden, Josephine Harris, Elizabeth Parker, Helen Gibson, Elizabeth Aze, Caroline Harris, Amy Young, Lucile Smith and others.

The Birmingham Junior league has 200 members. Its work is done for the needy not yet cared for by the Community Chest, which is unable naturally to cover all charities in Birmingham. It is a me for undernourished children, later taken over by a state, took care of children from any part of Alabama.

The officers of the Birmingham league are: Mrs. Alfred Shook, president; Mrs. Jennings Gillen, executive secretary; Mrs. T. A. Murphy, treasurer; and Mrs. Rhodes Boykin, editor.

Chattanooga League.

The Chattanooga Junior league will sponsor Chattanooga's Better Housing and Products exposition, November 22-27 at the Memorial auditorium, which will be modeled after the exposition in Cincinnati. Pittsburgh, Louisville, Indianapolis and other prominent cities of the north. The exposition which has been established in Chattanooga three years, promises to be the largest and the most spectacular.

An educational program for making and beautifying better homes in the community will be offered at the exposition. Short talks will be made by experts and high class entertainment features will be provided for those attending the show. Lectures and demonstrations will be given on making the home more beautiful, how to economize in the art of living, and how to make the surroundings more attractive.

Model Rooms and Booths.

The Junior League committee is not only endeavoring to make the Chattanooga exposition complete, but also to have it attractive and of educational value. There will be twenty-two model rooms, and twenty-six booths on the arena hall or first floor. Downstairs in the exposition hall there will be 14 come and see booths. Furnishings, household appliances of all kinds, labor-saving devices of all descriptions to reduce the drudgery to the housewife and everything that goes into making of a better and more attractive home will be housed in the great auditorium on exhibition.

Proceeds from the exposition go to the Junior league treasury to be used for bettering the home conditions of the charitable institutions of Chattanooga.

The officers of the Chattanooga Junior league are: Mrs. Alexander Guerry, president; Mrs. Harold Morrison, vice president; Mrs. Charles E. Blake, secretary; Mrs. Felix Miller, treasurer, and Mrs. Mark H. Senter, editor.

Women Play Important Part in Community Chest.

The important part of the women in the Community Chest campaign in preparing Atlanta for an appreciation and understanding of the needs for social service was never met more generously than this year. Among the women's clubs Mrs. Frank Woodruff, appointed by Mrs. R. K. Ramsey, president of the City Federation of Women's clubs, as contact chairman with the chest, has arranged for speakers before most of the important gatherings during the last two weeks, while Mrs. E. K. Large, appointed for the same work among Parent-Teacher associations by Mrs. Charles J. Foster, president of the P. T. A. council, has been equally active.

Among the organizations that have been or will be addressed on the work of the Community Chest agencies are, Westminster Presbyterian Missionary society, U. D. C. headquarters; the Drama league, Peachtree Heights' Woman's club, Business and Professional Women's club, Auxiliary Brotherhood of Trainmen, Emory University Woman's club, Woman's Missionary Liberal church, Joseph Hershman chapter, D. A. R., Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., Women's auxiliary, Railway Mail Clerks, Jewish Woman's club, Y. W. C. A. board, Atlanta Woman's club, Federated Woman's club, Shorter College club, Boulevard Park Woman's club, and the boards of several agencies.

Parent-Teacher associations, reached through Mrs. Large, are People's Street, Highland, Kirkwood, Spring Street, Calhoun, Lee Street, Tech High school, Bass Junior High, All Saints, Formwalt, Goldsmith, Williams Street and others.

The Community Chest depends upon the sympathy and closer contact of the women with these philanthropic undertakings to interpret them to their husbands, fathers and brothers, as well as to each other. Most of the social service in Atlanta was originated by women, and until the chest plan was adopted, raised most of the funds for their support.

Miss Thompson Weds C. E. Van Orden At Church Ceremony

Of impressive beauty, dignity and simplicity was the marriage of Miss Edna Emma Thompson and Clarence Edward Van Orden, of Chicago, which was solemnized on Wednesday evening, October 20, at 8:30 o'clock at the Central Presbyterian church. Dr. E. T. Carson performed the ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion, the exquisite simplicity of the arrangement and the pleasing colors of green and white made a most beautiful setting for the bride party. Stately palms were used in abundance and were interspersed with tall floor baskets of white lilies. At the altar graceful candelabras held burning white tapers and added a note of loveliness to the scene. White satin ribbon marked off the family pews.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Kathleen Dougherty and Miss Lillian McDonald. Miss McDonald sang, "Because," and "I Love You Truly." The wedding march from Wagner's Lohengrin was used for the entrance of the bride party and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional. During the ceremony, Miss Dougherty played very softly, "To a Wild Rose."

Bridal Party.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen entered down separate aisles. First to enter were James Smith and L. C. Doggett, next came the matron of honor, Mrs. W. G. Chamberlain, aunt of the bride and Miss Mary Elizabeth Arnold, and then Miss Margaret Mayes, maid of honor.

Mrs. Chamberlain, the lovely matron of honor, was crowned in pea green chiffon georgette, beaded in rhinestones and pastel shades. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses buds showered and tied with green tulle. Miss Arnold, bridesmaid, was exquisitely gowned in yellow crepe, made bouffant style, with yellow georgette panels. Yellow nailings extended from the hem half way to the ankles, with flesh gardenias scattered over the skirt. Her slippers were yellow satin with rhinestone buckles. She carried yellow rosebuds tied with flesh tulle, wearing a flower to match in her hair.

Miss Margaret Mayes, lovely maid of honor, was crowned in pink chiffon georgette, the waist being a tight basque and the skirt made of tiers in petal effect, shading from shell pink to deep rose. A deep fold of tulle gave the ankle effect. A pink gardenia was carried in her hair, she carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds tied with pink tulle. The bride entered on the arm of her uncle, W. G. Chamberlain who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, W. N. Burns.

Lovely Bride.

The charming bride was a picture of exquisite beauty in her bridal gown of white duchess satin, trimmed with handmade flowers of the same material and real orange blossoms. The basque waist which was sheered to the full skirt was particularly becoming to the bride's slender type of beauty. The skirt was finished at the bottom with deep fold of tulle to give ankle length. The bridal veil of tulle attached with a coronet or orange blossom, fell the full length of her train. Her court train was made of duchess satin. She carried a real lace handkerchief which had been used by three brides in 20 years. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of white rosebuds, and valley lilies, heavily showered with white satin ribbons. The groom's gift to the bride was a S. A. E. fraternity pin, surrounded with pearls.

Mr. Van Orden and his bride left on a wedding journey for Niagara Falls, Syracuse, New York and Chicago.

Masses of tropical palms and ferns banked the doorway and window recesses, graceful floor baskets filled with brightly tinted chrysanthemums and dahlias standing in relief against the rich background. ## Fashions Sketched by Kay

After having shown two charming cloth coats, I stopped at Chamberlin's yesterday to look at furs, and thought perhaps you would like to see something very new and very lovely should you intend to buy a fur coat this winter. So I have sketched for you one of beige squirrel with the most fascinating back that you could imagine. Cape-like pieces have been put on either side and are attached to the sleeves; this gives the wide effect above the waist that is at the moment so very smart, and, when the moment changes as moments do, these pieces can be taken off and you will have a straight line coat of great perfection. Some very beautiful models are developed in cocoa colored dyed ermine and in lap mink and weasel which are treated by a special means to look very much like ermine. Dyed ermine and squirrel will be very good this season.

Silk Discovery Is Perfected.

The discovery and perfecting of a new silk, as light as chiffon silk, but so strong that human hands cannot tear it, has been announced in Atlanta by Frohns, on behalf of a large Pennsylvania mill, which controls the output of the laboratories making the fabric. This silk has been named "Princess Royal" and is used in women's "Princess Royal" undergarments, in which fineness of texture combines with remarkable long-wearing qualities.

For years scientists have experimented with a view to eliminating the easy-tearing feature of chiffon silk, while preserving its sheer texture. The discovery of Spindrift proved that this silk is actually 35 per cent stronger than pure silk of equal weight and many times stronger than the various inexpensive "loaded" silks often used in so-called "silk underwear."

Spindrift also is guaranteed to stand repeated tubbings far better than any silk previously manufactured. Having subjected it successfully to all possible tests for tensile strength, washing and wearing, the manufacturers have put it on the market in

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.
THE DARK MASK.

In their upstairs sitting room, with a fire already started, David faced Dorinda with shining eyes.

"Wasn't that luck?" he jubilantly exclaimed. "Why, Alice Bradley can do a lot more for you than even Norma can! And her crowd," he added, with a flash of insight, "won't bore you as much as Norma's will when you get into it."

"She looks rather nice," Dorinda admitted.

"She is nice. She's one of the best."

"I've heard," Dorinda lightly mentioned, "that she can play a stiff game of tennis or flirt in a dark corner with equally good technique."

He flushed.

"Alice doesn't deserve that. She's as straight as they make them. I suppose the remark came from your friend Bryant."

"O, no; Kitty made it. It seems that Mrs. Bradley tried to take up Kitty, two years ago, because of Kitty's music. But Kitty couldn't stand being patronized. I don't think I can, either," she ended, with a side glance at him. "I hope your friends will realize that."

When they went down to dinner at seven Dorinda was forced to admit that the Bradleys showed no desire to patronize her. They had decided that this chance encounter with the runaways was rather a lark, as well as what Dick called "a relief expedition" for themselves, and they showed enough appreciation of their dinner and their companions to satisfy even a somewhat exacting hostess. For the first time in her life Dorinda exerted herself to meet social overtures half way. She admired Mrs. Bradley's gown, which deserved the admiration; she talked more than usual; and she described the wedding in the little parsonage at Chester, drawing a picture of the parson's disapproving wife that made Dick roar.

"She was sorry for us both," Dorinda ended, "but she was more sorry for David than she was for me, and she was right. We had to motor almost a hundred and fifty miles through the rain and slush after that, and I was so disagreeable to him that he almost ditched me."

"I remembered just in time that she was young," David contributed, "and that perhaps I could improve her. But there was a moment of frightful peril when she began to fuss about her dog."

"I do miss Freckles," Dorinda confessed, and explained that Freckles was the first dog she had ever owned. The effect of the simple remark was electrical. The Bradleys were dog lovers and the owners of noted kennels. They were willing to hear all about Freckles. Subsequently Mrs. Bradley discoursed on dogs till her husband stopped her.

"Alice knows more about dogs than any woman ought to know about anything," he admitted, "but, of course, I know more than she does about everything. So I'll talk a while now."

The peak of the entente was reached thirty minutes later.

"If you'd like one of Gin Rickey's puppies as a playmate for Freckles," Alice offered, "you may have him. I'll give you your choice of the five as a wedding present."

"Love at first sight," Bradley told David in a stage whisper. "Those pups are the apples of her eye. I wouldn't be half as much surprised if she'd offered your wife one of the children."

If they could have talked indefinitely about dogs the splendor of the evening would have remained undimmed. But after dinner they adjourned to the Bradley's sitting room for bridge, where, in the course of the next hour, a slight paling of the effulgence developed. Dorinda, whose game, like her other social activities, was only half a year old, was a nervous and self-conscious player. Through her blunders she and her partner, Bradley, lost rubber after rubber. She decided that she disliked cards and was rapidly reaching the opinion that she disliked her fellow players. The dark mask David had already begun to dread settled over her features. Bradley saw it, too.

"Too bad you don't play poker," he kindly suggested. "We might have better luck."

The dark mask lifted a trifle.

"I do play poker," Dorinda confessed. "I've played it a good deal lately. Why don't we try it? Anything would be better than this," she ended, with the candor she had learned from the Butterflies.

The poker game began. In David's opinion it was far from an improvement on the bridge. For one thing, the stakes were too high. He himself rarely played poker, and he had never played for such stakes as this. Dorinda, it was revealed, had heretofore played exclusively for chips, but she showed a lively appreciation of the broadening interest lent to the game by the presence of bank notes. At the end of the evening—a rather late end it turned out to be—David had lost sixty dollars. Though he took it smilingly, the loss depressed him to the soul. He couldn't afford to throw away that money, but perhaps it was worth the lesson he had learned. It left a frightful hole in his bank roll, as he discovered when he spread his remaining money out on his bed that night. Bradley had been congratulatory over his own assumption that neither side had really lost anything. If Bradley imagined, as he evidently did, that Mrs. David Goddard's success had counteracted David Goddard's losses, he had another guess coming. David undressed and grumpily went to bed, finding no consolation in the memory of his bride's bright face as she gleefully counted her winnings.

Thank God, they were starting for Grandon today! The thought filled Dorinda's mind as she awoke Monday morning to a leaden skyed world in which rain had turned to icy sleet and a freezing wind whimped at the hotel windows. Two more days, and only one more night on the road, and she would be back in the house she had been such a fool to leave. But the journey was worth while, if only because it had taught her how much she loved home. She did love it, though abysmally she wondered how she could with those memories of her wretched childhood rolling over her like recurrent icy floods. Just the same, when she got past this experience she would never want to leave home again. There was nothing here to remind her of home except the noisy outcries of a young hen triumphantly proclaiming the world from a neighboring poultry yard she had laid an egg. She hadn't, but it sounded well.

Dorinda stretched luxuriously. It must be rather late. They had not come upstairs till after midnight. She drew her watch from under her pillow and sleepily looked at its octagonal face. Ten o'clock! Startled, she rang the bell, and a willing maid responded with a confidential grin. From the instant of her entrance she made it clear that the lady's tardiness did not surprise her. Under the look in her narrow eyes Dorinda flushed, telling herself she did not like this particular maid.

"I'm awfully late," she said, trying to speak naturally.

"Yes'm, your husband left a message."

"Why—has he gone out?" For some reason, Dorinda was startled by this. The maid smiled again.

"O, no, ma'am," she said, reassuringly. "Only down to 's breakfast. He waited in the sitting room till half past nine, and then, when he didn't hear no sound, he went down. Of course, he didn't want to wake you. But he'll be back now any minute. Will you have your tray where you are, ma'am?"

"No, I'll get up and have breakfast in the sitting room. Order it right away, please. I'll be ready by the time it's served. An omelet and grapefruit and rolls and coffee."

She hurried into the bathroom as she spoke, and the sound of water running into the tub was mingled with the maid's voice at the telephone.

"I'd like a fire in the sitting room," Dorinda called through the half open door.

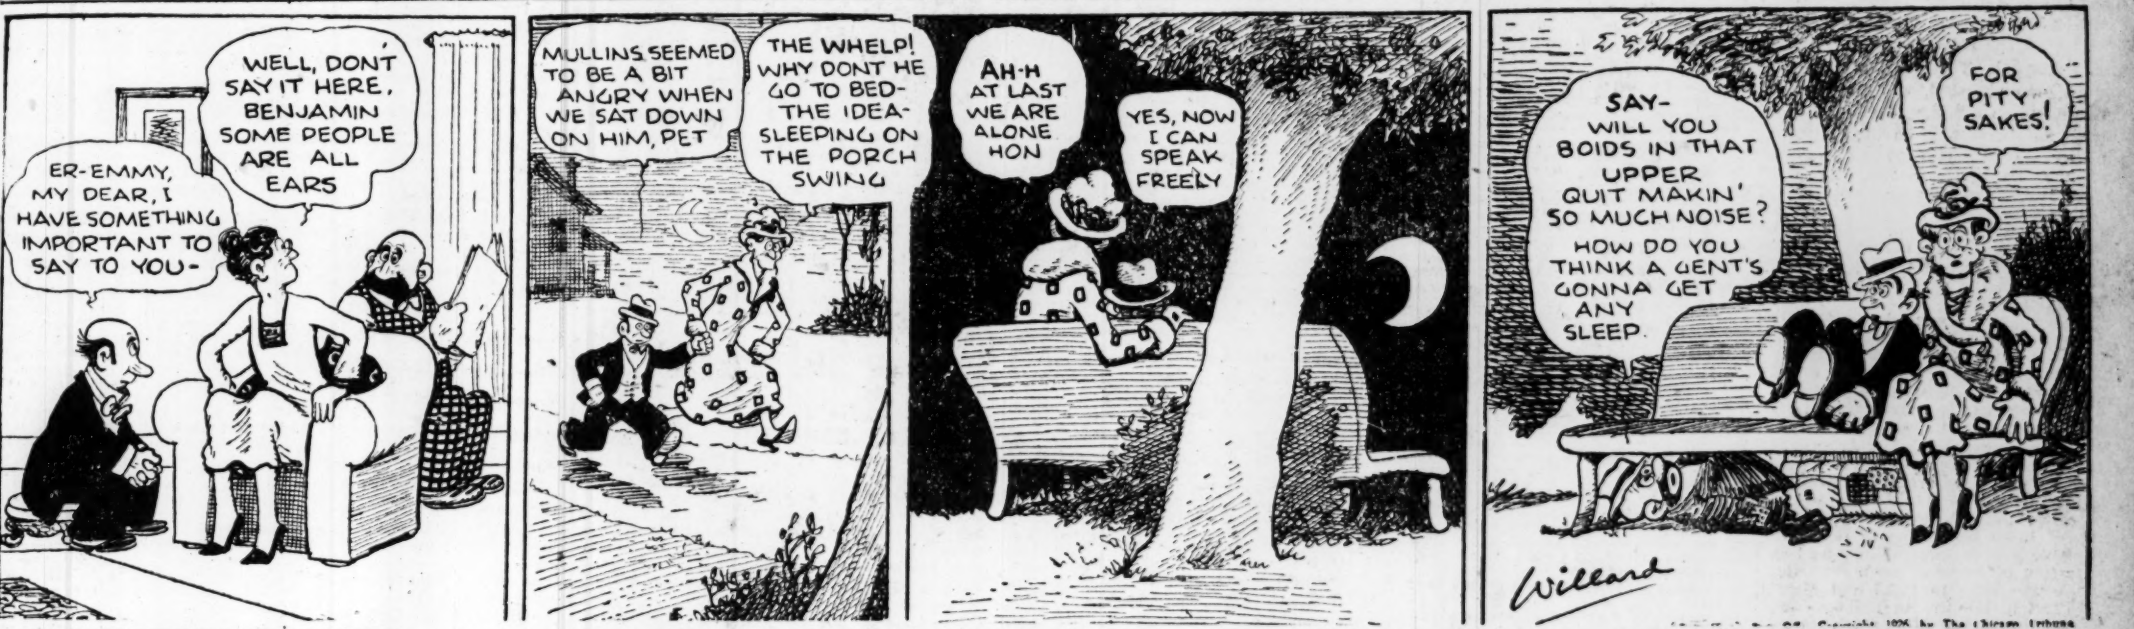

She dressed with almost frantic haste, overcome by her first consciousness of her peculiar relation to the young man who might appear any minute. He simply must not appear till she was ready for him. It was the maid's knowing smile that made her think of such things—she increasingly disliked the maid.

British Statesmen Build Foreign Policy To Work Hand in Hand With America

Close Cooperation for Sake of World Stability Declared by Sir Austen Chamberlain.

BY CHARLES M. MCCANN.
London, October 20.—Close cooperation with the United States to the end that world stability may be reached is one of the important points in British foreign policy, according to authoritative reports on the speech of Sir Austen Chamberlain, secretary of foreign affairs, as delivered today at the Empire conference.

The only diplomatic question outstanding between the two countries, Chamberlain is alleged to have said, is one concerning American war claims as a result of the British blockade during the world war. Continuation of American absence from the League of Nations, Chamberlain is reported to have said, may mean that Canada will become a formal candidate for the league's council seat held open for the American continent.

Great Britain hopes to proceed slowly but steadily toward disarmament, according to the reports of Chamberlain's speech. The demand will be made that the naval auxiliary ratio will permit Great Britain fully to protect the Mediterranean and other sea routes to her eastern dominions. Hence any limitation of British auxiliary craft must be met by reduction of Italian and French auxiliary ships and airplanes. Chamberlain is said to have taken the position that Great Britain must proceed slowly with building of the Singapore naval base.
The foreign secretary is reported to have admitted that great Britain has been drawn closer to Germany as a result of the Locarno treaties. Whereas Great Britain was before officially and primarily a French ally, he expressed the belief that the balance of power now rests between France and Germany.
Chamberlain is said to have seen in Germany's entrance into the league and ratification of the Locarno pacts a promise of gradual demobilization of the European war spirit.
He is reported as having admitted that the Chinese situation is bad, but as seeing British interests in a more favorable light than following the Wahnsien incident.

A farmer in Fulton, Mo., W. E. Muir, appeared with a pair of suspenders fashioned by his daughter from a discarded inner tube. The suspenders were black and neatly trimmed, Muir pronouncing them superior to any others he had tried. He said that he had some more at home, made from different colored inner tubes, just for variety.

GEORGIA RAIL LAW GOLD WINDS BRING ARGUED IN COURT TASTE OF WINTER

Washington, October 20.—(AP)—The right of states to prescribe equipment for railroad locomotives operating within their borders was argued today in the supreme court in three cases, two from Wisconsin and one from Georgia. New York, Michigan, South Dakota, and other states also have regulations which railroads are opposing. The Michigan case being already in the court.

The Georgia law requires railroads to be equipped with automatic doors to tire boxes, while the Wisconsin requirement related to curtains for locomotives.

The states insisted the regulations did not encroach upon the power of the interstate commerce commission, while the Atlantic Coast Line in the Georgia case, and the Northwestern and the St. Paul railroads, in the Wisconsin cases, contended the federal government, and that the commission had exclusive jurisdiction.

Thomas Stevenson, arguing for Georgia, contended the commission did not have authority to prescribe the railroad equipment but was confined to prohibiting the running of locomotives which, upon inspection, were found not to comply with the safety requirements of the commission.

Justice Holmes suggested he could not follow counsel in drawing a line between what the commission could do by its orders and what it could accomplish through inspection. He stated that if it could prevent, by inspection, the running of a locomotive which did not have certain equipment, it could, in his judgment, require the railroads to install such equipment.

Counsel replied the commission early fixed tests calculated to promote safety in the operation of the railroads and did not attempt to enforce standards aimed to protect the health of railroad employees. He insisted as long as the federal commission had not made locomotives to be equipped with doors to fireboxes to protect engineers against explosions, Georgia was free to do so.

Robert C. Alston, counsel for the Atlantic Coast Line, insisted the federal district court for Northern Georgia should be supported in its decision that the Georgia law was an invalid attempt to regulate interstate commerce.

DR. E. T. HELFENSTEIN IS ELECTED BISHOP

Baltimore, October 20.—(AP)—Dr. Edward T. Helfenstein, arch deacon of Maryland, today was elected coadjutor bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in Maryland. He will assist Dr. John Gardner, bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States.

The Chesapeake and Ohio and the Hocking Valley railroads obtained permission today from the interstate commerce commission to build 63 miles of new line from Greer to Valley Crossing, both points in Ohio.

Philadelphia, October 20.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad company today announced an increase of wages to be paid to all classes of shopcraft employees. The increase, agreed on yesterday, is retroactive to October 1, 1926. Approximately 45,000 men are affected.

A report that telegraphers had been given an increase of two cents an hour lacked confirmation at the company's general offices here, but it was unofficially said the report probably referred to an increase granted the telegraphers some time ago.

Whether the wage increase for the shopmen is a forerunner for increases for other classes of employees could not be learned.

Washington, October 20.—(AP)—A flat air mail postage rate, to be fixed at probably 10 cents for half an ounce and covers transmission of mail any distance in the United States over any air mail routes as necessary, will be placed in effect about the first of next year, Postmaster General New announced today.

Post officials have been endeavoring to determine a satisfactory flat rate to do away with the various rates now in effect.

The decision by Postmaster General New to let out to contractors the operation of the transcontinental and New York-Chicago overnight government operated routes brought about a necessity for a flat rate.

Chilling winds which early Wednesday reached the city and sent the thin-cold scurrying for heavier garments, caused a perceptible drop in the mercury which gusted Atlanta for a good taste of wintry weather.
Brisk winds earlier in the day bore a tinge of winter and grew colder and stronger as night came on. Owing to the fact that the weather bureau is closed at night, no official thermometer readings were available.
Fair weather with no appreciable change in temperature was forecast for Atlanta, according to A. H. Scott, assistant meteorologist of the local bureau. The forecast for Georgia is partly cloudy with probable showers in the south and a slight drop in temperature in sections north of Atlanta.
Wednesday's lowest temperature was recorded in 60 degrees, while the highest reached was 76 degrees. This was recorded in mid-afternoon and before the biting winds hit the city. The range for today was predicted to be about the same in Atlanta. No effects of the hurricane ruffled weather over the gulf coast will be felt in this section, it was stated.
